NIXON, CONGRESS TO COLLIDE

SUPREME COURT RULES . . .

Hearing On Parker Confession Planned

A hearing on the voluntariness of the confession given by Darrel F. Parker in connection with the 1955 strangulation-slaying of his wife, Nancy, will be held in Lancaster District Court as soon as possible.

Lancaster County Attorney Paul Douglas, in response to a U.S. Supreme Court ruling Monday which overturned the Eighth Circuit Court of Appeals' order reversing Parker's conviction, said that he would see no reason for delay.

He said he had not seen the Supreme Court ruling and did not know what the time limit would be but assumed that the order would give the State of Nebraska "so many days" in which to hold the hearing.

"I intend to contact all the witnesses and get a court date set down as soon as possible," Douglas said.

Nebraska had appealed to the higher court the ruling by the U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals in St. Louis, which reversed Parker's conviction after finding that he had been "mentally coerced" by a criminal investigator into making a confession.

According to the Supreme Court, which divided 5-3 on the question, the court of appeals erred in passing "judgment on the voluntariness of respondent's confession without first permitting a Nebraska court to make such an evaluation uninfluenced by the apparent findings of voluntariness at the 1956 trial."

Douglas said that the Supreme Court ruling means that a possible new trial for Parker, who is out on $5,000 bond set by U.S. Federal District Judge Robert Van Pelt, hinges on the outcome of the hearing to determine whether his confession was voluntary or not.

He said that if the court finds that the confession was voluntary, then the 1956 conviction will stand, but that Parker would have the right to again appeal this decision to the Nebraska Supreme Court and then through the federal courts.

However, according to Douglas, if the court finds that the confession was not given voluntarily, then he would have a right to a new trial in Lancaster District Court.

Douglas said he would anticipate that the voluntariness hearing would take several days.

Regarding Parker's present release on bond, Douglas said he would make a decision within the next week or 10 days whether to ask the federal court to set aside the bond.

He said if he decides not to make such a request, Parker would remain out on bond until after the district court hearing.

The Supreme Court's majority ruling was given in an unsigned opinion, according to Associated Press reports. Justice Hugo L. Black filed a dissent in which Chief Justice Warren E. Burger joined. Justice William O. Douglas filed a separate dissent.

The Supreme Court majority said it agreed with the appeals court that the record in the trial court did not justify a conclusion that the trial judge had made his own determination of voluntariness as required under previous Supreme Court rulings.

It said it also accepted the appeals court determination that all subsequent findings of voluntariness were made at least in part in reliance on the first procedurally defective determination of the confession's admissibility.

However, the court majority said, the appropriate remedy when a federal court finds such an error in a prior state proceedings "is to allow the state a reasonable time to make an error-free determination of the voluntariness of the confession at issue."

It therefore vacated the court of appeals judgment and sent the case back for further proceedings.

Justice Black said he felt the court should have sent the case back for a complete retrial in which a jury could determine whether the alleged confession had been given voluntarily.

Justice Douglas took a somewhat similar view and said it would be more appropriate to order a new trial before a jury. But, he said, if the issue is to be resolved in a habeas corpus proceeding in which there is no jury, then the Supreme Court should have upheld the court of appeals reversal.

Attorney For Parker Has Little To Say

The attorney in the Darrel Parker case had little comment on the U.S. Supreme Court decision until they could study the court opinion.

Richard J. Bruckner of Omaha, Parker's counsel, said he would make no detailed comment until he had an opportunity to read the decision.

The Supreme Court, in a 5-3 ruling, said the Nebraska court must conduct a hearing to determine whether Parker's confession had been voluntary.

"I thought we already had a hearing on the voluntariness of the confession," Bruckner said, indicating he might ask the Supreme Court for a re-hearing on its decision.

Bruckner said Parker had been informed of the ruling "but could not properly make any comments at this time."

Parker has been staying with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Lynn H. Parker of Henderson, Iowa., since his release Dec. 18 on $5,000 bond.

A Lincoln friend, who talked briefly with Parker by telephone, said Parker "seemed calm enough, but was understandably apprehensive about the implications of the decision on his case."

"Darrel appeared to be more concerned for his parents, particularly his mother, and the impact of the decision on them," said the friend, who declined to be identified.

"They have always believed their son is innocent," the friend said, "and it's been a long, uphill battle to legally free him."

School, Labor Cash Vetoed By President

. . . ON NATIONWIDE TELEVISION

Washington (AP) — President Nixon made some first-time-ever history Monday night when he vetoed a $19.7-billion education and health appropriation bill before a nationwide television audience, assuring a major collision with the Democratic-controlled Congress.

Nixon said he vetoed the measure because "it is the wrong amount for the wrong purpose and at the wrong time."

Little Impact

But it was obvious that his arguments had little impact on Democratic congressional leaders or on educators who are swarming into the capital in an effort to convince Congress it should override the veto.

Rep. Carl D. Perkins, Kentucky Democrat and a chief architect of the vetoed bill, said Nixon's argument that the veto fights inflation is unsound and discredited — an argument sure to be echoed in the forthcoming floor fight, along with claims that educational needs deserve priority.

Republican leaders predictably hailed the veto action as they intensified efforts to hold their party lines and sustain the President's action.

Veto On Camera

It was Nixon's first presidential veto, and the way he did it was unprecedented. After an 11-minute broadcast report to the nation, he picked up his pen and signed the veto message before the television cameras.

The bill carries $1.26 billion more than Nixon's budget recommendations, most of it for education aid and for health research.

With the test coming up, Nixon went on live radio and television to warn that "we can spend ourselves poor."

"That is why," he said in a prepared text, "no matter how popular a spending program is, if I determine that its enactment will have the effect of raising your prices or your taxes — I will not approve that program."

Long-Range Benefit

The President contended his action would be in the long-range interest of better health and education programs.

"Above all," he said, "it is in the vital interest of all Americans in stopping the rise in the cost of living."

Spelling out why he considers the bill wrong in amount, purpose and timing, the President said the amount is bad because in the last 10 years the cost of living leaped 25% and a major factor in this was the government's spending $57 billion more than it took in, in taxes.

122 Fire-Prone Color TVs Identified

Washington (AP) — The National Commission on Product Safety identified Monday 122 models of color television sets which have been exploding or catching fire at an above-average rate.

The Electronic Industries Associaton immediately accused the commission of creating an unfair competitive advantage for some manufacturers by releasing the information.

The commission, which has been conferring with the industry for three months and recently chided manufacturers for not moving fast enough, said the nation's 22 million color sets have been igniting at the rate of 12 per 100,000.

30 Per 100,000

The commission said the sets it identified were catching fire at the rate of 30 per 100,000.

The commission said Olympic television sets manufactured by Lear Siegler Corp. averaged the highest r ate in the industry. Nine of the firm's models were identified as potential hazards.

The other firms identified as exceeding the industry average were, in descending order: Packard Bell, Magnavox, Sylvania, Philco-Ford and RCA.

Five firms were identified as having an incidence rate below the industry average, even though certain models caught fire at the 30-per-100,000 rate. Those firms were, in descending order: General Electric, Admiral, Motorola, Emerson, and Warwick (Sears).

Letters Sent Manufacturers

At the same time the commission released the names of the sets, it dispatched letters asking the manufacturers to recall, repair or replace faulty sets.

Commission chairman Arnold B. Elkind noted that some sets on the commission list might not be fire hazards.

"Nevertheless, we believe it essential that this information be furnished to the public and that appropriate action be taken . . . rather than risk the consequences of fires in color television receivers," Elkind said.

While Turned Off

The television industry had undertaken what it called a crash program after the commission estimated in October that as many as 10,000 color sets were catching fire every year, some even while turned off.

The commission and industry pinpointed the causes of the fires. The industry proposed protection standards which the commission said last month did not go far enough.

Tracor, Inc., an engineering firm hired by the commission, complained that the industry's new standards still permit temperatures hot enough to initiate combustion and materials to support combustion.

95% Of Industry Surveyed

The commission said its survey of fire hazards covered 17 manufacturers representing 95% of the industry. The commission did not analyze data submitted by Japanese manufacturers, the commission said.

List of manufacturers and model numbers of the television sets identified by the commission as catching fire at an above-average rate:

Final OK Shouted In House

Washington (AP) — The House shouted final congressional approval of the $19.7-billion education and labor appropriation Monday.

White House press secretary Ronald L. Ziegler said Nixon is confident on the basis of his soundings that the House will not vote to override the veto — which will be formally sent to it Tuesday.

That vote had been scheduled for Wednesday even before final approval of the bill by the House on a voice vote aaccepting a minor Senate amendment.

The visitors' gallery was filled with some of the hundreds of educators launching a member-by-member. "Operation Override" effort to assure the two-thirds House vote needed to overturn the veto.

Some Democratic leaders express doubts privately that they can keep enough of the 86 Republicans who originally joined them in approving the bill to override the Republican President's veto.

But House Democratic leader Carl Albert of Oklahoma told newsmen the chances of an override are fair and said he can't imagine that those Republicans would, as he put it, put themselves on the spot by switching their votes.

"I can't imagine worse legislative hypocrisy than that," Albert said.

Override chances are far better in the Senate but the question will never get there if the House sustains the veto because an override must be approved by both bodies.

The hundreds of teachers, principals and other education workers arriving for "Operation Override" were button-holing each member of the House.

Could Be Close

Charles Lee, who is in charge of the lobby drive, agreed with the estimates the override vote could be as close as five votes either way.

"We're not claiming victory," Lee said in an interview, "but we're not throwing in any towels."

The educators were given specifics on how much money their states would lose if the bill is vetoed — plus voting records of the congressmen on whom they were to call.

Catholic School Board OKs Kindergarten Plan

By LUCILLE HOWARD
Star Staff Writer

Kindergarten will be offered in the Lincoln Catholic Schools next fall if Bishop Glennon Flavin and the eight parishes approve and agree to implement a plan for cooperative education adopted by the Lincoln Catholic Board of Education Monday night.

In addition, seventh and eighth grades of four parish schools will be combined. St. Patrick's Junior High students will be moved to St. John's School and Sacred Heart School students will go to St. Teresa's school.

The plan for "cooperative education" that won board endorsement is quite moderate compared to the sweeping changes recommended by Catholic principals in September 1968. Two middle schools and five elementary schools, with centralized staffing, purchasing and transportation had been proposed under the original restructuring plan.

The school board recommended that the adopted plan be forwarded to the bishop for his approval and requested that he issue instructions for implementation by fall.

The school board is an advisory body that only has the power to make recommendations to the elementary schools.

Pius X High School will not be affected by the cooperative education plan.

Under the proposal, kindergarten sections will be added at St. Patrick's for both St. Patrick's and St. John's students, and at Sacred Heart, St. Teresa's, Blessed Sacrament, Cathedral of the Risen Christ, St. Mary's and St. Thomas Aquinas at the Newman Center.

Each parish will pay the cost of its students in the kindergarten program.

St. John's School will add a teacher to absorb the St. Patrick's seventh and eight graders, with the cost paid by St. Patrick's. Sacred Heart will pay for one of St. Teresa's teachers. Bus transportation from Sacred Heart and St. Patrick's Schools to the new locations will be provided to the students.

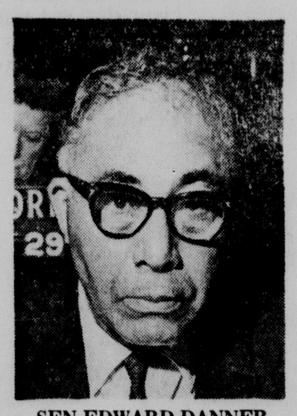
With kindergarten classes available, Catholic children are more likely to attend Catholic schools, the diocesan superintendent, Father James Dawson, indicated. The transition from kindergarten to first grade also will be easier without changing schools, he said.

Kindergarten had been dropped from the Lincoln Catholic schools when buildings became overcrowded with regular school students several years ago.

Pius Supt. Father Ivan Vap reported that the high school budget had a balance of $3.18 as of Jan. 1 due to high expenses in December. He also indicated that this is the first year that no Pius students have transferred into the public schools at the end of first semester.

Scheduled for next month is consideration of a proposal that all lay administrators in the Catholic schools serve on an annual basis and be appointed by the board of education.

Board members also will have to fill the seat of St. Patrick's representative Homer Gordon who resigned indicating that continued service would not be in the best interests of the board, according to Presidena Robert Sittig.



SEN EDWARD DANNER

Sen. Danner, 69, Succumbs

Omaha (AP) — State Sen. Edward Danner, 69, the only Negro member of the Nebraska Legislature, died Monday in an Omaha hospital after he collapsed with an apparent stroke in downtown Omaha.

Danner, a native of Guthrie, Okla., had been a member of the Legislature since 1963, having been elected from the 11th District in November, 1962.

During his legislative tenure, he was most widely-known for his work on civil rights legislation.

A retired butcher, Danner was a past field representative of the former United Packinghouse Workers Union and had served as vice president of Local 47 of the UPWA.

He is survived by his widow and nine children.

Gov. Norbert T. Tiemann said all of Nebraska will miss the leadership and "distinguished public service" given by Sen. Danner.

"The senator represented his district ably and with great distinction," Tiemann said.

At Scottsbluff, a Unicameral colleague, Sen. Terry Carpenter, said Sen. Danner "will be hard to replace as far as the state senate is concerned."

Omaha Youth Dies In Battle

. . . WITH POLICE

From Press Reports

Omaha—A 17-year-old youth was shot to death and two policemen were held hostage Monday night during a gun battle shortly after 9 p.m.

The victim was identified by police as George Allen Woods.

According to reports, Det. Sgt. Ray Holewinski and Det. Sgt. Jerald Volcek were investigating a report of fradulant use of a credit card taken in a recent burglary.

One of the officers went to an apartment in the 3500 block on Jackson Street between 36th street and 35th Avenue and was grabbed by one of the suspects after the suspect fired a shot.

The second officer called for help and returned to the scene, where he was grabbed by a second suspect.

Volcek was wounded in the shoot-out, which reportedly occurred when Woods and another man held the two officers captive in the car.

Volcek was later reported in satisfactory condition at Douglas County Hospital. Holewinski, was treated for shock.

The other man in the car was identified only as Larry Saxton. He was held by police for questioning.

Filipino Students Bombard Marcos

Manila (AP) — Thousands of students battled 1,500 riot police and hurled bottles, stones and a wooden casket at President Ferdinand E. Marcos and his wife outside the congress Monday night.

Scores of demonstrators and police were reported injured in the two-hour clash that ebbed to sporadic fights near the presidential palace about 300 yards away.

Marcos and his wife were not injured. The main confrontation started when Marcos emerged from the congressional building after delivering his state of the nation address. The demonstrators pressed forward, and the presidential guard ringing the Marcoses bore the brunt of a barrage of bottles and stones.

New York Times News Summary

Foreign Aid Conferees Agree On $1.8 Billion

(c) New York Times News Service

Washington — A Senate-House conference committee agreed on a final foreign aid appropriations bill for the current fiscal year. The bill will call for $1.46 billion in economic aid and $350 million in military aid. The total of $1.8 billion is a cut of nearly a third from President Nixon's request. (More on Page 2.)

Response Is Warm

Jerusalem — In a warm response to remarks made by President Nixon to a group of Jewish leaders in Washington, Israeli Premier Golda Meir said the President's words were a clear expression of concern for the security and integrity of Israel.

New Urgency Injected

Paris — France's proposed sale of supersonic jets to Libya has injected new urgency into Washington's considerations of Israel's requests for aid, which have been pending for four months, according to State Department officials. In Paris, a French spokesman said the fleet of Mirages that will go to Libya will be closer to 110 aircraft rather than 100.

Nixon Vetoing Money Bill

Washington — Only seven hours after the House gave final approval to the health and education appropriations bill, President Nixon went on nationwide television to announce that he was vetoing it as inflationary. (More on Page 1.)

Fire-Prone Color TVs Identified

Washington — More than 100 different models of color television sets were termed extraordinary fire hazards by the National Commission on Product Safety. (More on Page 1.)

Draft Points Settled

Washington — Two key points of the draft law were settled by the Supreme Court when it ruled that students who lose their draft deferments for antiwar activities may challenge their reclassification in court and that the Selective Service system lacked the legal authority to declare students delinquent for turning in their draft cards. (More on Page 2.)

AFI-CIO Opposes Carswell

Washington — AFL-CIO President George Meany, announced that the labor organization would oppose the nomination of Judge G. Harrold Carswell to the Supreme Court. (More on Page 8.)

Imbalance Is Growing

Washington — An eminent historian, Barnaby C. Keeney, warned Congress that the growing inbalance between science and the humanities was dividing the nation. (More on Page 8.)

Measures Not Enough

Lagos — A United Nations observer said after a five-day tour of the former Biafran region that present relief measures were "not enough." (More on Page 2.)

Hacks' Tongues Wag

New York — The police department's hack bureau is receiving an increasing number of complaints from taxi riders, particularly women, about abusive and obscene language used by New York taxi drivers.

Hashish Smuggler Accused

New York — A student at Columbia University's journalsim school was ordered held in $100,000 bail on charges of impersonating a federal officer and smuggling hashish into the United States. Harvey Fleetwood III, along with two other defendants, was accused of being the major supplier of hashish to several colleges in the New York area.

Turning In Draft Card Not Cause For Losing Deferment

. . . COURT ALSO RULES PARK CAN BE SEGREGATED

Washington (AP) — The Supreme Court ruled 6 to 2 Monday that draft boards cannot take a college student's deferment away because he turned in his draft card to protest the Vietnam war.

Justice Hugo L. Black said neither the President nor local boards can set conditions for student deferments that are not in the 1967 draft law.

Black, speaking for the majority, said Congress intended to spare students from induction as long as they remained students.

No Indication

There is no indication in the law, he said, that the deferment can be taken away because the registrant failed to keep his draft card.

Last week the court ruled 5 to 3 that draft boards cannot accelerate the induction of war protesters already in 1A as punishment for giving up their draft cards.

Monday's decision prohibits the reclassification to 1A of students or any other men Congress intended to protect from military service.

Government Loses

Together, the rulings mean that protesters cannot be called up solely on the judgment of their boards that they are "delinquents." Both rulings went against the Justice Department and the Selective Service System.

In the civil rights area, meanwhile, the court ruled 5 to 2 that a park deeded for white use in Macon, Ga., by a segregationist can be turned back to private heirs to keep Negroes out.

Justice Black, for the majority, said the Constitution guarantees Negroes the right to use public parks. But he said, there is nothing in the Consititution to bar operators of the estate of former Sen. Augustus Octavius Bacon from taking the park back and keeping both Negroes and whites out.

Court's Funcation

Black said "there is reason for everyone to be disheartened" when a city park is destroyed. But, he said, the reponsibility of Supreme Court justices "is to construe and enforce the Constitution and laws of the land as they are and not to legislate social policy on the basis of our own personal inclinations."

The court in other actions:

—Unanimously rejected a request by Gov. Claude Kirk of Florida for reconsideration of the Jan. 14 decision ordering desegregation of public schools in 14 Southern districts by Feb. 1.

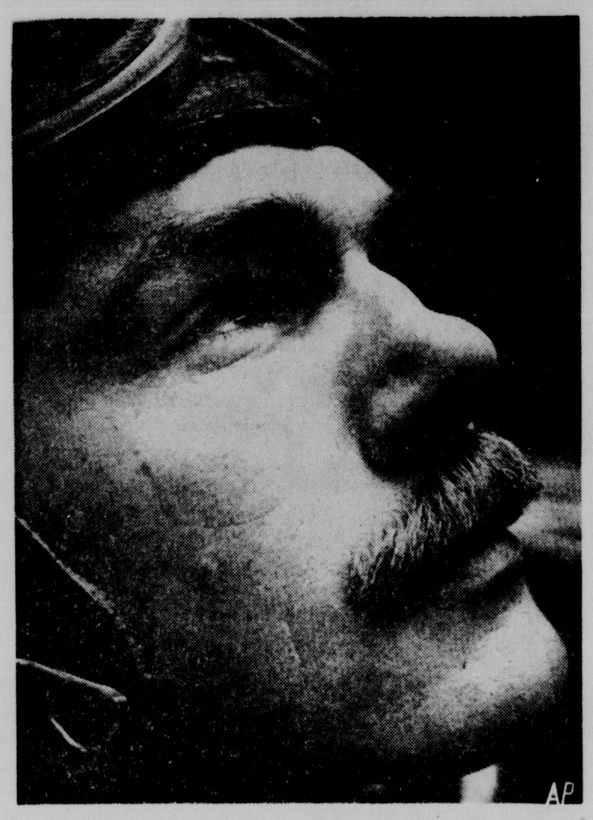
—Turned down, 6 to 2, an appeal by publisher Ralph Ginzburg from a $75,000 judgment that he libeled Sen. Barry Goldwater, R-Ariz., in Fact magazine by suggesting that Goldwater had a severely paranoidal personality and was unfit to be president. The article appeared in 1964 when Goldwater was the Republican candidate for president.

Refusal Not Needed

The draft ruling gives all men who claim they have been illegally ordered to induction the right to obtain a ruling from a court without violating the law by refusing induction.

All eight justices joined in opening the courts to pre-induction suits.

But Chief Justice Warren E. Burger and Justice Potter Stewart dissented from the main holding that draft boards have no authority to declare war protesters delinquent and reclassify then 1A for giving up their draft cards.



MOUSTACHE GROUNDS PILOT

This Iowa Air National Guard pilot, Capt. Richard D. Bach, 32, of Ottumwa, has been grounded because of the hair on his upper lip. He could fly again if he would shave it off or trim it back a quarter of an inch. But Bach insists that his constitutional rights as a civilian are involved, because he's a civilian 90% of the time.

Action Increases In Vietnam

Saigon (AP) — The U.S. Command reported Monday an increase in military action by both allied and enemy forces in all four military zones of South Vietnam.

The command said there were 29 enemy rocket and mortar attacks between 8 a.m. Sunday and 8 a.m. Monday, about half of them in Tay Ninh province north of Saigon.

Three Americans were reported wounded, and South Vietnamese losses were reported light.

Allied ground and air forces claimed that 175 North Vietnamese and Viet Cong were killed during the 24 hours in a dozen fights scattered from the Mekong Delta south of Saigon to the populous coastal lowlands below Da Nang.

Nine Americans were killed and five wounded, the highest number of U.S. troops reported killed during a 24-hour period in three weeks. South Vietnamese losses were reported as seven wounded.

One unit of the U.S. 173rd Airborne Brigade suffered five men killed and four wounded in an ambush on the coastal plains. Two of the enemy were reported killed.

Acting on intelligence assessments of enemy supply movements into South Vietnam, U.S. B52 bombers made their heaviest raids in nine months. The planes struck at North Vietnamese supply depots inside Laos, ranged across the frontier over the A Shau Valley and farther south along the Cambodian border.

Some 60 B52s, four-fifths of the Strategic Air Commands bomber fleet in Asia, dropped nearly 2,000 tons of explosives on the North Vietnamese depots to slow any enemy buildup for a possible new offensive.

Thieu Asks For More From Vietnam's Allies

Saigon (AP) — President Nguyen Van Thieu said Monday South Vietnam needs help from its friends now, but it will take an independent course if allied policy "is not in accordance with our national interests."

Addressing an audience that included foreign newsmen and diplomats, Thieu called for more aid from his country's allies.

"To lose South Vietnam means the deterioration of a whole big and secure rear, namely the free world," he told a dinner meeting of the Association of Vietnamese Newspaper Editors.

Thieu took issue with newsmen and other critics here and abroad who have accused him of running a one-man government.

"If you are the person who assumes the important responsibility to pilot the boat amidst the storm, could you forgive anyone who drills holes in your boat and lets water come in?"

He also had an answer for those who argue that true democracy is not practiced in South Vietnam.

"All of you know," he said, "that democracy in Vietnam is nearly born, and is newly born in an underdeveloped country which has just recaptured its independence.

"Life in democracy and freedom has just begun to develop here, and therefore cannot be compared with 100-year-old European and American democracy. Do not expect babies who just learn to walk to run with adults."

$27.33 Million Offered To Thalidomide Babies

©The New York Times

Bonn — Chemie Grunenthal, the West German pharmaceutical company that developed and sold Thalidomide, offered Monday to pay $27.3 million (100 million marks) in an out-of-court settlement to children born with birth defects caused, it is alleged, by their mothers' use of the tranquilizer during pregnancy.

The company, whose seven former executives have been on trial since May 27, 1968, made the offer on the condition that the court case against them be dropped and that "all further risks for the company and the accused be excluded."

Issued one day before the 200th session of the trial, the statement urged acceptance of the offer to avoid "probably endless continuation" of legal wranglings, following the as yet unforeseeable conclusion of the criminal case against its employes.

The prosecution declined to comment on the company's proposal, but a spokesman indicated last week that the Aachen district court would prefer an out-of-court settlement.

The trial — at which scores of witnesses on both sides have testified — has yet to produce scientifically uncontested proof of a link between the use of Thalidomide and the deformed babies born in West Germany and other countries a decade ago. About 5,000 deformed births were registered at the time.

End To Violence Seen In Biafra, Not Hunger

Lagos, Nigeria (AP) — A special emissary of U.N. Secretary-General U Thant reported Monday that bloodshed and violence soon will end in fallen Biafra, but malnutrition, poverty and death will remain a cause for alarm.

Said-Udden Khan, a retired brigadier from Pakistan, called for a major effort by volunteer and government agencies.

Khan also reported cases of looting, rape and indiscipline on the part of victorious Nigerian federal troops. He said the soldiers were being punished by superior officers.

Two Executed

"At least two soldiers found guilty of rape have been summarily executed," Khan's report said. "One soldier caught looting was shot and wounded by his officer, and many more have been flogged publicly for the same offense."

He added: "There was no allegation of killings, but there have been cases of molestation of women and many more of looting . . . Some of the soldiers belonging to detachments in fairly remote areas have been disorderly, but the senior officers (majors and above) are very clear on the code of conduct and enforce it, sometimes very severely."

Thant himself was in Lagos a week ago, but did not visit the war zone. He quoted Henrich Beer, head of the League of Red Cross Societies, as saying: "There was not the slightest, remotest evidence of violence or ill treatment."

Conferees Agree To Drop Planes Set For Chiang

Washington (AP) — Senate-House conferees agreed Monday to drop a $54.5 million allotment for jet planes for Nationalist China in reaching final agreement in a $1.8 billion foreign aid bill.

In December, the conferees decided to keep this money in the bill, but the Senate voted to reject the measure because of the planes for Taiwan.

At the news conference Monday, the House delegation agreed to eliminate the item.

The final measure, smallest foreign aid appropriation in many years, is expected to be sent to President Nixon later this week.

It is the last of the 14 mony bills needed to run the government in the current fiscal year which began last July 1.

Damkroger and Condon Premier Seed Growers

. . . Awards Given During Crop Improvement Days

Two Nebraska farmers with a combined total of 58 years in seed certification experience received Premier Seed Grower Awards at a banquet in connection with the annual Crop Improvement Days here Monday night.

Named as award winners were Edwin Damkroger of DeWitt, who has produced certified seed since 1945, and Lawrence Condon of Creighton, a certified seed grower since 1937. The pair received plaques presented by Dr. Donald G. Hanway, chairman of the University of Nebraska Department of Agronomy, on behalf of the Nebraska Crop Improvement Association.

Damkroger

Condon

350-Acre Farm

Damkroger operates a 350-acre farm northeast of DeWitt, with the assistance of a son, Berl. The unit includes 200 acres of cropland and the balance native grass-timber pasture. Part of the farm goes back two generations in the Damkroger family, and Mr. and Mrs. Damkroger live in the buildings where his father lived.

Damkroger is proud of the fact that some of his seed has been shipped to California, Colorado and Illinois. Since 1953, he has been selling seed through an approved processor, who bags, tags and sells the seed.

In recent years, he has concentrated on certified wheat, and some soybeans. In the 1940's and 1950's, however, he recalls certifying large quantities of oats, getting yields as high as 90 and 100 bushels to the acre.

Damkroger "likes to show good seed," and has been a consistent winner in the certified seed show at the Nebraska State Fair. He was the grand champion exhibitor of hard red winter wheat in the eastern region two consecutive years.

The Gage County farmer fattens about 150 head of cattle a year and raises corn, milo and popcorn, some on irrigated land. In the past, he has also certified bromegrass, sorghum, and barley. Brome seed produced on the Damkroger farm helped establish certified bromegrass production in the Rocky Ford, Colo., area when irrigation was introduced. He also helped fill a carload of choice brome seed which was shipped to Illinois.

His singularly successful career as a certified seed producer did not keep Damkroger from being a community leader. He served on the local school board for 24 years, was president of the civic club and PTA. He has served in various capacities in his local church, and for the Central District of the American Lutheran Church. He has served as secretary and sales manager for the Nebraska Angus Association, and currently is vice president of the Nebraka Soybean Association.

Condon owns 688 acres of farmland and farms 720 additional acres, which he operates as a unit in partnership with his son, John.

More than half of the acreage is seeded to brome and alfalfa, although the past year there were 350 acres of corn — about 150 acres irrigated.

While certifying sizeable acreages of wheat and soybeans, Condon feels that, "year in and year out, bromegrass is one of the best crops we can raise."

The perennial problem of finding farm labor and the contribution of brome production to a beef cattle operation are good reasons cited by Condon. He reluctantly has cut back on certification of sudan because of the labor problem — "you can't certify sudan satisfactorily unless it is cut and shocked."

Seed is handled by an approved processor who cleans and merchandises it. While he sells some seed to a local outlet, Condon doesn't attempt to retail seed "because it doesn't pay to come in from the field to sell a sack of seed."

Cattle Feeder

He runs 165 head of stock cows, raises some calves and purchases additional calves and yearlings in the fall to take care of roughage. Bromegrass and alfalfa baled "works out pretty well." He feeds 400 to 500 cattle yearly, of which 160-165 are home-raised.

Condon has certified at least 12 different crops over the years. He was president of the Nebraska Crop Improvement Association for three years, and served as a director for 12 years.

Mr. and Mrs. Condon and family were designated as the Nebraska Honor Farm Family by the Lincoln Journal and Star in 1957. Condon has been elected to membership in the Nebraska Hall of Agricultural Achievement.

He is a past director of the Knox County Livestock Feeders Association, is active in the Creighton Chamber of Commerce, has served on the Creighton Community School Board for 18 years, 17 years as chairman; and is a past council member of the Zion Lutheran Church of Creighton.

Soil Moisture Conditions Improved By Melting Snow

By The Associated Press

Melting snow has improved soil moisture conditions over Nebraska, although frozen soils caused some runoff, government crop observers reported Monday.

The weekly crop and weather review by the State-Federal Division of Agricultural Statistics described the condition in the Panhandle and southwest as "much improved."

"Wheat and rye appear to be in good condition," the report said.

The west got more snow early last week and the amount on the ground ranged locally up to 10 inches before Chinook winds reached the Panhandle on Wednesday, and melting began.

Field forages have become available for grazing once again, but muddy conditions exist in many areas. About 45% of the corn and sorghum stalk fields are being grazed, while less than one-fourth of diverted acres are being grazed. Bitter cold early last week caused a few losses of newborn livestock, but livestock condition improved as temperatures moderated, the division said.

Nebraska imported 139,000 head of stocker and feeder cattle in December, compared with 150,000 head in December a year earlier. Sheep and lamb inshipments were off 20%, to 8,000 head.

Autopsy Planned In Death Of Man

Omaha (UPI) — An autopsy was being performed to determine the cause of death of an Omaha man whose body was found in a bathroom which was on fire Monday evening.

The body of Stanley F. Filla, 63, was found by his wife, who returned from work about 5:25 p.m.

Fire oficials said the blaze was restricted to the bathroom, but there was smoke and heat damage throughout the house.

Bertrand Artifact Contract Goes To Hooper Firm

Washington (AP) — Rep. William J. Scherle, R-Iowa, and Sen. Jack R. Miller, R-Iowa, said Monday they have received word from the Bureau of Sports Fisheries and Wildlife that a $54,922 contract of construction of a Bertrand Artifact Building in De Soto Bend National Wildlife Refuge has been let.

The contract calls for all utilities including equipment for heating, ventilation and air conditioning.

Fauss Construction Co. of Hooper, Neb., was awarded the contract.

The building will house artifacts taken from the sunken steamboat Bertrand, which was unearthed in an old Missouri River bed near Missouri Valley, Iowa, last year. The steamboat sunk a century ago.

2 Involved In Fairbury Team Attack Now Face Rape Count

Topeka, Kan. (AP) — Rape charges have been filed against six Topeka youths, including two who were sentenced to the reformatory for an attack last September on members of the Fairbury, Neb., Junior College football team.

Shawnee County Attorney Gene Olander said the alleged rape of a 16-year-old girl occurred Monday during a party for Frank Shumway, 16, who was to report to the Kansas Reception and Diagnostic Center for evaluation.

Shumway was sentenced to the Kansas Industrial Reformatory for his part in attacking the Fairbury football players outside a Topeka restaurant last September.

Shumway was sentenced up to 10 years on one count and up to five years on a second.

Holmes Charged

Also charged with rape was Gary Holmes, 20, who was sentenced Thursday to one-5 years in the state reformatory on each of two counts in the Fairbury football team attack. Holmes also was referred to the reception and diagnostic center.

Holmes was charged Wednesday in still another case, an alleged gang attack on a tavern owner and customer last weekend.

Donald Fitzgerald, 19, was charged along with Holmes in both the alleged rape and tavern attack.

Also charged with rape were Homer McBroom, 23; Garry Miller, 18, and a 17-year-old juvenile. A warrant for a sixth youth charged in the alleged rape was not served immediately. All of the youths are from Topeka.

Solario Trial Set March 23

Nebraska City (AP) — Otoe County District Judge Walter H. Smith Monday set March 23 for the first degree murder trial of Al Rodriguez Solario, 19, of El Paso, Tex.

Solario is charged in connection with the Dec. 6 death of Alfredo Yzaquirre of Nebraska City. His body was found in a small cabin. Authorities said he apparently had been stabbed to death.

Pleaded Innocent

At his arraignment Monday, Solario pleaded innocent to the charge through court-appointed attorney, Willian Brandt of Unadilla, and through an interpreter, Mrs. Carmon Novoa of Omaha.

Solario is being held in the Otoe County Jail without bond.

Judge Favors Sidney In Ruling On Gas Rate

Sidney (AP) — District Judge John Kuns of Kimball ruled for the city of Sidney Monday in a rate dispute with Kansas-Nebraska Natural Gas Company.

The gas supplier had sought an injunction which would force the city to accept a 25% rate increase on a temporary basis, with bond to be posted to assure refunds to customers if the rate increase was not upheld in the courts. Judge Kuns refused Monday to grant it.

Several months ago the city refused to grant Kansas-Nebraska the 25% rate increase sought, and countered with an ordinance granting a 6% increase. The company refused to recognize the 6% ordinance and initiated court action.

Judge Kuns handed down his ruling Monday after listening to almost seven days of testimony. Observers expected the case would be appealed promptly.

The 25% increase would cost Kansas-Nebraska customers in Sidney about $75,000, but a number of other communities where Kansas-Nebraska has sought rate increases have been holding back awaiting the outcome of this case.

Pfc. Spencer Fatally Hurt

Omaha (UPI) — Mr. and Mrs. Frank Spencer, Omaha, were notified Monday of the death in Vietnam Friday of their son, Pfc. Frank Spencer 3rd.

The 20-year-old soldier was a graduate of Central High School. He entered the Army last June.

Survivors, in addition to his parents, include four sisters, Valerie, Shelley, Donna and Stassi, all of Omaha.

All Immanuel Beds Occupied

Omaha (UPI) — Emergency cases were not being accepted Monday by Immanuel Hospital because all beds in the hospital were occupied.

A spokesman for the hospital said the reason for the full house was an increase in all types of cases, particularly surgical patients requiring several days of hospitalization.

He said there was no outbreak of any particular ailment whch put people into the hospital.

Ralston Firm Polluting Air Is Fined $300

Ralston (AP) — For the first time in a number of years, a fine has been levied for an air pollution ordinance violation in Nebraska.

City magistrate Leo McDonald found the Nebraska Bag Co. guilty of three complaints of violation of Ralston's anti-pollution ordinance. He fined the company $100 on each count.

Two other complaints are to be heard Feb. 12.

John Powers, attorney for the bag company, said he will appeal to the District Court to determine the constitutionality of the ordinance.

Harry Silver, co-owner of the plant, said he has $150,000 worth of contracts yet to fulfill. The plant has been grinding corncobs since 1966. They are used for feed.

Silver said he has been in touch with a pollution expert to determine what can be done to control the pollution. He said he was told he could satisfactorily meet federal and state laws, but he could not guarantee compliance with the Ralston ordinance.

One complaint came from Frank J. Yapsen, who said dirt and dust cover his house, yard and car. "I can't leave my windows open because it comes into the house and covers the furniture and carpets," he said.

The Ralston ordinance says in part that no person or company shall cause or create any offensive or disagreeable order.

EVENTS

IN PERSPECTIVE

By WILLIAM O. DOBLER

Some commentators have jumped to the conclusion that President Nixon has squelched his opposition in jumping onto the hottest issue of the day—pollution control. But there is reason to believe that the door may well be wide open when all the hard facts are known.

The President spoke in glowing terms in his State of the Union message about cleaning up our environment. He said:

"We still think of air as free. But clean air is not free. And neither is clean water. The price tag on pollution control is high. Through our years of past carelessness we incurred a debt to nature and now that debt is being called.

★

"The program I shall propose to Congress will be the most comprehensive and costly program in this field in America's history. It is not a program for just one year. A year's plan in this field is no plan at all. This is the time to look ahead not a year but five years or 10 years, whatever time is required to do the job.

"I shall propose to this Congress a $10 billion nationwide clean waters program to put modern municipal waste treatment plants in every place in America where they are needed to make our water clean again and do it now . . .

"We can no longer afford to consider air and water common property, free to be abused by anyone without regard to the consequences. Instead we should begin now to treat them as scarce resources which we are no more free to contaminate than we are free to throw garbage into our neighbor's yard.

"This requires comprehensive new regulations. It also requires that to the extent possible the price of goods should be made to include the costs of producing and disposing of them without damage to the environment . . ."

★

But this is what a New York Times story says about the water pollution control program:

"Informed officials said later that under the President's plan, the federal government would pay 40% of the cost and the states and cities 60%.

"Thus, the federal share would be $4 billion and the local share $6 billion, according to these officials.

"Furthermore, they said that the federal grants would be made on a sliding scale over nine years so that the budgetary costs to the federal government would average about $445 million a year.

"This average annual cost is slightly more than half the $800 million for the federal share of waste treatment plants that Congress appropriated for the fiscal year ending next June 30."

Thus, the Nixon plan could call for lower spending in one area of pollution control than is now the case. This could hardly be classed as a major effort. It is estimated that it would cost more than $1 billion to clean up Lake Michigan alone.

The "programmed" sewage treatment needs of Nebraska municipalities alone are estimated at $90 million over the next five years.

★

Certainly, the President cannot be taken to task before he has had an opportunity to present his thinking in the specific terms of bills in Congress but indications are that those specifics will leave a lot of room for others to champion the cause of pollution control.

And this is speaking of water pollution alone. What about air pollution? The President's references here were very broad, to "new regulations" and to "intensified research."

His statement that the price of goods should, to the extent possible, reflect the cost of producing them without damage to the environment is a direct call to business and industry to clean up their operations and eliminate the terrific burden they place upon the environment.

But what will be the force behind those words? Cities, we predict, will continue to welcome industries, without regard for their abuse of the environment.

'Don't Be Such A Strict Constructionist'

A Two-Way Street

Nebraskan William Galbraith had half of a good idea last week in addressing members of the Nebraska Rural Electric Association. Galbraith is currently deputy undersecretary in the U.S. Department of Agriculture.

The new direction, Galbraith said, has to be toward better communication and better understanding between rural electric interests and city-based lawmakers. He also stated:

"You have to win friends and influence people who don't know you, aren't served by you and may even believe, mistakenly, that you have outlived your purpose and your reason for existence."

In other words, Nebraska rural electric interests have to make their case known where it counts. That is certainly true.

But the other side of the coin, to which Galbraith made no reference, is an understanding by rural America of the problems of urban America. These are problems of unemployment, housing, education, mass transit and many others.

We are not going to make many friends and influence many people when we send to Washington a congressional delegation which has no sympathy with many of the needs of urban America. It appears, for instance, that Nebraska's entire delegation will vote to sustain the veto by President Nixon of the new education bill.

This is a bill with a strong backing in many of the heavily populated metropolitan areas with almost insurmountable school problems. For some reason, Nebraska seems to expect people to understand its problems and sympathize with them while it does nothing in the opposite direction.

Nebraska has a unanimously conservative voice in Congress and that is not likely to win many friends for a progressive program to rebuild the rural areas or even to keep what the rural areas have.

Apologies From A Critic

Nebraskans have not heard the last from Mrs. Betty Bridgman of Minneapolis, the housewife who stirred up natives of this state by proposing that Nebraska was a word for nowhere and asking for a defense.

Not that Mrs. Bridgman really thought that our 77,000 square miles are all that bleak, but she was struck by an evaluation of our state — discussed earlier on this page — by one Charles Guthrie that concluded that Nebraska is a wilderness without comfort or hope. Mrs. Bridgman quoted another source who said "If you're from Nebraska, when you go back, it's to see your mother."

The Minneapolis lady invited people here to comment on Guthrie's evaluation and describe our quality of life. Her letter was published in many of the state's papers, including The Star, and Nebraskans responded in earnest.

In a recent copy of the Minneapolis Star, on the letters page under a picture of Courthouse Rock near Bridgeport, Mrs. Bridgman wrote that she had received nearly 200 replies to her challenge. She quoted this newspaper's editorial comment and the thoughts of a Nelson man who said "you can tell Mr. Guthrie that I personally would prefer to be in Nebraska, if my car broke down (evidently this is one of Guthrie's fears), than in some other state, because I know something about the pride of workmanship inherent in Nebraska people."

She also took note of a two-page letter from a Nebraska state official who finished up with: "What's good about Nebraska . . . The freedom from fumbling and uninformed intellectuals who would be a danger around our expensive farm machinery."

Mrs. Bridgman concluded that "Charles Guthrie should apologize to Nebraska." The Minneapolis Star, in an editor's note, said that Guthrie — who hails from a small town in Montana — "humbly does so."

Ford's Office Used To Sell Influence

WASHINGTON — The respected name of House GOP leader Gerald Ford has been caught up in the investigation of fixer Nathan Voloshen and House aide Martin Sweig.

The two wheeler-dealers have been indicted by a New York grand jury for using Speaker John McCormack's office for influence peddling. This column has now learned that a third member of their fixit team, Robert Winterberger, operated occasionally out of Ford's office.

Winterberger has avoided prosecution by cooperating with the grand jury. He is expected to appear as a government witness against Voloshen and Sweig at their trial.

Early in the investigation, Assistant Attorney General Will Wilson, who runs the Justice Department's Criminal Division, paid a secret call upon Ford to question him about Winterberger.

☆ ☆ ☆

The GOP leader, who will succeed Speaker John McCormack if the Republicans should win control of the House in November, acknowledged to this column that Winterberger had dropped by his office occasionally but denied any knowledge of wrongdoing.

Ford said he had turned Winterberger over to his administrative assistant, Frank Meyer, who had made some "routine" inquiries such as "any congressional office would have done" for him.

Ford also recalled that Winterberger had come to his office "well recommended," but couldn't remember who had recommended him.

☆ ☆ ☆

No one who knows Jerry Ford believes he would allow his name to be used by an influence-peddling ring. But in the back-slapping, back-scratching, favor-swapping environment on Capitol Hill, it is easy for a con man to take advantage of a congressman's potent name.

Note: Winterberger was involved with Voloshen in a few alleged fixes, including the skillful shakedown of convicted embezzler Eddie Gilbert. Federal authorities told this column that Winterberger had been "moderately helpful" in building the case against Voloshen and Sweig.

☆ ☆ ☆

The cutbacks in the space program have caused a serious morale problem among astronauts. Because of the expected budget cuts, no more manned flights are scheduled after 1974.

This means there are now more astronauts than can possibly be crowded into the available spaceships. And astronauts, who have gone through the intense training for space flight, are worried that they may never get a chance to fly in space.

Pro-Consuls Move To Positions Of New Power; Senate Claims Usurpation Of Proper Authority

WASHINGTON — It was the late Henry R. Luce, founder of Time, Life, etc., who proclaimed the American Century. His vision of an American imperium presided over by wise pro-consuls around the world called forth at the time indignant cries of protest. This was not the American dream of those embedded in the long tradition initiated with George Washington's warning against foreign entanglements.

In the unhappy conviction of critics in Congress, the American imperium is a reality today. Thinly disguised in the rhetoric of aiding peoples to achieve democracy and independence, the pro-consul, whether in military uniform or the morning coat of diplomacy, exercises an authority undreamed of a few short years ago.

They have no right under the Constitution to exercise such authority — to direct the operation of undeclared wars, for example, the critics in the Senate say.

Secrecy versus the right of Congress and the people to know is the focus of a controversy bound to generate more heat in the current session. How much light it will shed on the far-flung plans and intentions of America's commitments around the world is uncertain. The immediate issue is the "sanitized" transcript of the closed hearings into the undeclared war in Laos before Sen. Stewart Symington's subcommittee.

The transcript has been so censored in the State Department that it is meaningless, according to committee members. They are demanding that vital acts be restored — the cost of America's effort, well over $200,000,000 a year; the cost of Thai support forces sent into Laos; the use of American bombers idled by halting the bombing of North Vietnam. And, above all, the answer to why the United States should be involved in such an undeclared war.

With the backing of President Nixon, the State Department is standing pat. There is a possibility the subcommittee will publish and be damned. After all, as Sen. J. William Fulbright, of the Symington group points out, most of the material was in a series of articles written by Henry Kamm of The New York Times from Laos.

As unhappy senators know only too well, the entrenched position of the executive rests on money and manpower. Congressional resolutions, such as the Church amendment prohibiting the use of armed American combat troops in Laos or Thailand, are fine. But they butter no parsnips and, so far as the ongoing war in Laos is concerned, they are hardly a deterrent.

The Nixon administration, as Fulbright wryly acknowledges, understand the techniques of empire as did the Kennedy and Johnson administrations. The President in his skillful State of the Union message said that the prospects for peace are far greater today than they were a year ago. Fulbright and the other critics know the public believes Mr. Nixon means to end the war.

But what is his ultimate intention? Does he mean to withdraw all American forces, leaving only a small residue at the end of, say, two years? Or, in spite of the impressive rhetoric about Vietnamization and peace, will perhaps 200,000 Americans be left in Southeast Asia as the mainstay of America's position and a bulwark of the imperium?

In the gulf of suspicion and distrust between the White House and the Senate, or an important element of the Senate, minor irritants play a part. The Symington subcommittee inquiring into why the United States provided $39,000,000 for a small contingent of Philippine support troops in Vietnam, who got the money, and what part corruption has played in siphoning off billions in aid to the Philippines got caught in an election crossfire. American Ambassador Henry A. Byroade, talking to the Manila Rotary Club said: "I ask you to consider the source."

The senators were furious. They were angered by a speech by Maj. Gen. R. G. Ciccolella, head of the military mission in Formosa, attacking civilian control over the military and denouncing the cry of "no more Vietnams" as "sweet music to the ears of communist plotters." The report reaching the committee was that Ciccolella was to have become deputy to Gen. Creighton Abrams, the American commander in Vietnam. Unfortunately, the general succumbed to a serious back ailment, which also prevented his testifying before the committee.

These are the pro-consuls. They are the agents of American power in the far corners of the earth. They enjoy privileges and on-the-scene responsibilities unimaginable in the America of a short time ago.

GEORGE C. THOSTESON, M.D.

To Your Good Health

Dear Dr. Thosteson: I am the victim of thick, hard, and unshapely toenails and am led to believe this may be from some type of fungus. If it is a fungus in your opinion, will you advise whether some medication could be used to correct it, or would surgery be the only solution?—C.L.

This can result from fungus infections, and in the last few years a couple of very effective drugs have been developed to combat fungus infections. They don't attack all types of fungus, but they do effective work with some prevalent types. Both are prescription drugs. There are numerous older medications which can be tried, too.

Therefore, I'd suggest that you have a podiatrist (specialist in foot problems) or your regular physician give you an accurate diagnosis. If it is a fungus, and if it does not respond to the available medications, surgery to remove the nails may be in order. The fungus, you see, can invade the tissues under the nail and be difficult to treat.

However, such thick, unshapely nails can be from quite different causes. In fact, this trouble, uncommon in young people, can cause a good deal of concern as we grow older.

Trauma over the years, especially from wearing snug footwear, can cause such trouble. Another cause, often overlooked, is inadequate pedicare.

Most people look after their fingernails but forget their toenails. Daily use of a nail file keeps material from accumulating under fingernails. But how many people bother with toenails? As this material gradually accumulates, it hardens, and distorts the shape and size of the nails. After it has hardened, it cannot be dislodged by ordinary means. In such cases, it is well worthwhile to have professional attention, to get the nails back into more manageable condition.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: Lately I find that the nurses can't get a blood pressure in my right arm. They try and try, and finally use my left arm. There is no pulse in my right arm, either. Could you explain how this could be? I know a reading used to be taken with my right arm. I had heart surgery three years ago for coarctation of the aorta and am doing fine.—Mrs. E.B.

There can be a difference in blood pressure in the arms, and a small difference doesn't usually mean anything.

A marked difference or an absence of pressure (and pulse) implies an obstruction. Changes taking place inside the artery serving the arm might be the cause, or the artery may be pressing against bone or muscle above the collarbone. In your case, Mrs. B., it is conceivable that some change came about in connection with the heart surgery.

Since you make no mention of symptoms related to faulty circulation, apparently you are getting sufficient flow of blood to the arm even though pressure is low.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: I am 14 and 5 feet 10, but weigh only 124 pounds. I have had very little time for breakfast on school days, so I decided to buy some vitamin pills. My sister, who is now in medical school, strongly disagrees with this idea. Do you agree with her or with me? —H.C.R.

I agree entirely with your sister, son. Vitamins don't take the place of the protein you need for strong growth and the calories you need for energy. I've been campaigning consistently in favor of everybody's having breakfast — even fat adults who are trying to reduce, but especially young people who need energy for the morning's work.

My suggestion: Get up a few minutes earlier so you'll have time for breakfast. Eat the vitamin pills, also, if you want to, but you probably don't need them. You DO need some food in your stomach to start the day.

☆ ☆ ☆

Dear Dr. Thosteson: I drink bottled water because I like it, not under any doctor's orders. Many people tell me to drink spring water instead because it has minerals in it and the distilled water does not. Would you explain the difference? — Mrs. H.B.

Minerals in water usually are not the kind that can be absorbed readily by the body, so for the average healthy person it doesn't make any difference which you drink. Use whichever you prefer.

☆ ☆ ☆

Dear Dr. Thosteson: I have heard that exercise before one has completed a reducing diet is bad because it builds muscle on top of the fat. If this is so, why would fat under the muscle be harder to lose than fat above muscle? —A.J.

That evidently is a theory dreamed up by somebody who didn't know the facts, because the basic premise is not so. Fat layers are outside the muscles.

Dr. Thosteson welcomes all reader mail but regrets that, due to the tremendous volume received daily, he is unable to answer individual letters. Readers' questions are incorporated in his column whenever possible.

Promises

Scotia, Neb.

Nixon had more promises, as usual, in his State of the Union speech. No specifics, just trust him. That grin should convince anyone that he is sincere.

By prolonging integration and the slow withdrawal of troops from Vietnam, he no doubt thinks he can stay in office. He seems to want to veto any program that would help the poor and middle classes. He remembers the South by appointing characters who are against integration.

I have said before that I believe he would run on any ticket that would come through with the greatest number of voters — as votes are where his heart is — and now it looks as if he is working on that line.

What good are promises if they aren't kept? He is for the rich, and the poor man should not forget it.

Squeaking Up

Beaver Crossing, Neb.

Glenn Kreuscher's "Farm Roundup" column is always read with keen interest. So often his comments are most timely concerning issues involving agriculture and farmers. This is particularly true of his article in the Monday, January 12, issue and again in the January 15 paper.

This feed grain and wheat program's full payment to farmers participating in the program being made in July fails to consider the current expenses farmers must meet for machinery, seed, fertilizer, tractor fuels and other needs to produce the 1970 crop, long before July 1, to say nothing of the tight-money situation and high interest rates.

The Star's efforts for Nebraska's farmers and agriculture are realized and appreciated. How to strengthen the channels of improved communications to "the powers that be" remains a big factor for farmers. How to speak loud enough to be heard is a major issue. Farm folks must continue their efforts persistently. Hopefully, the wheel that speaks the loudest will finally get attention.

The Expense

Lincoln, Neb.

The Lincoln Council on Alcoholism, and city and county officials are proposing a new program for the care of alcoholics. This program is necessary because we live in a society which is oriented to rehabilitation rather than prevention. Alcoholism is the only disease in which the causative organism is sold over the counter with the blessings of both the state and city government.

The average rehabilitation ratio is one in 10, so it is a rather expensive program and it is this expense and plan of financing which should prompt every taxpayer to join a protest movement. The $63,000-$70,000 proposed is only a very small part of the cost of alcoholism. They are asking $30 million for a new penitentiary and remodeling of the reformatories and from 80% to 90% of these prisoners committed their crimes under the influence of alcohol.

The liquor dealers created these problem people and should be responsible for every penny of the cost of their medical care, rehabilitation or imprisonment, and yet they came to the 1969 legislative sessions with their powerful lobbyists and refused to assume one more penny of tax to provide care for their victims. Many of these liquor dealers live in very expensive homes on the lakes with private boat-docks, boats and several expensive cars and yet they very successfully convinced the legislators that they were practically paupers from the taxes imposed in 1967.

If these dealers cannot afford to care for their victims, then we cannot afford the liquor dealers!

Several Records Set By Centennial State Fair

By GLENN KREUSCHER
Farm Editor

The 100th State Fair last September set records in many divisions, including attendance, receipts and expenses, according to the annual fair report presented Monday at the annual meeting of the Nebraska Association of Fair Managers held in conjunction with the State Board of Agriculture.

An estimated 465,000 people went to the Centennial State Fair and the combined receipts of the State Fair and race meet showed returns of $1,631,987 against expenses of $1,638,849. Both figures were new records and the $6,862 deficit was offset by an operation investment of $50,000 that had been invested following the races to show an actual balance of $43,137 for the past year's operation.

While many tributes were paid to the past success of the State Fair it was Monte Kiffin of Lexington, president of the State Board of Agriculture, who set the theme for the annual meeting by telling Nebraskans something has to be done in a hurry to combat an "old, outmoded fairgrounds grandstand and provide other facilities for the future growth of the State Fair."

Decision Needed

Kiffin said the decision must be made by the Legislature and governor as to whether "we have new fairgrounds with new buildings, or improve our present plant and provide the people of Nebraska with fairgrounds they deserve and can be proud to own."

Kiffin noted that while the Legislature directed that a study be made of the present facilities and the cost of new fairgrounds the legislation was never funded.

"I hope the Legislature is sincere and serious," said Kiffin.

Kiffin said all available funds the fair now has will be utilized to let bids Wednesday for an estimated $152,600 in water lines, sewers, and paving. Other work already scheduled includes new tack stalls for the race meet, roof repair and general modernization of the grounds.

State Board of Agriculture officials noted and Kiffin emphasized that many of the money problems of the State Fair would be eliminated if the fair could utilize all of the money for development that goes into the state's general fund above the amounts appropriated for fair activities.

Paid Taxes

During the past 12 years it was estimated that the State Fair has paid in taxes to the general fund $600,000 more than the fair received from the state for operation.

Kiffin says there are many points in favor of the Nebraska State Fair remaining at its present location.

Since the Legislature did not appropriate money for a study and the State Fair lacks the $42,600 estimated to make the study, Kiffin offered a plan for future development in his discussion that many supporters of the State Fair said could be a blue-print for the future.

Kiffin noted that one project now underway between the University of Nebraska and the State Fair has been beneficial to both state entities.

This is the development of University of Nebraska parking facilities at the fairgrounds that is utilized by the fair and race meet during the school's slack season.

Parking Facilities

For furnishing the ground the State Fair will use the area during the month of August and during the fair. The university utilizes the area the rest of the year and in five years, it was estimated, the University of Nebraska will have its money back from parking rentals.

"More funding in this manner is what we need," said Kiffin as he reminded fair officials and managers that the University of Nebraska is now studying the fairgrounds with the idea of building a coliseum or athletic complex at the site.

"If this can be done so as to make the facility available to us during the year, especially at fair time, it seems to me that we should cooperate. We could book outstanding entertainment during the fair without concern about weather and the building would be of mutual advantage to the university and State Fair," said Kiffin.

Taking the route of sharing some facilities between the university and the State Fair, now almost joined at the property line, could mean a saving of nearly $50 million, fair officials say.

While it is hard to pin down the cost of new fairgrounds complete with new facilities, most fair officials say it could easily mean a $50 to $75 million investment.

Pressing Need

One of the pressing needs outlined by Kiffin at the present site, is the "old-out-moded grandstand."

Kiffin says air conditioning is not feasible in the present facilities and the facility would not handle enough patrons to pay for the cost of improvements that should include lights for night racing.

Fair officials have said that an estimated $10 to $12 million would provide a new racing plant in conjunction with the university's plans for a coliseum or athletic plant that would provide the State of Nebraska with facilities that would cost at least five times as much to build at a new site.

"To delay too long on a decision is costly. The Legislature should be mindful of this situation.

"Whether we have new fairgrounds with new buildings, or improve our present plant is a decision your Legislature and governor must make," said Kiffin.

A country western show made some money for the grandstand during the 1969 fair, but the Frankie Sinatra Show lost $17,672.

Entertainment Costs

One of the problems with rising costs of feature entertainment is that the present grandstand does not have the facilities to capitalize on a show that would be estimated to cost $30,000 a night.

Fair officials note that in the past excellent reception was given the Lawrence Welk, Loren Greene and Hoss Cartright, Tennessee Ernie Ford and Pat Boone Shows. An effort is being made to secure entertainment with like appeal for the 1970 State Fair.

The agricultural divisions of the Nebraska State Fair continue to draw an increasing number of livestock and equipment exhibitors.

While Nebraska has continued to maintain one of the nation's leading agricultural expositions the search has continued with equal intensity to secure additional entertainment and educational activities for fair visitors.

William T. Collins of Bloomington, Minnesota, who has furnished the W. T. Collins Shows and carnival at the State Fair midway for 16 years was not in attendance at Monday's fair meeting.

Collins, who came early Saturday to meet with fair officials, was striken late Saturday with a sudden illness and admitted to Bryan Memorial Hospital.

4-H Exhibits

A total of $83,265 was paid out in premiums at the 1969 State Fair. A major attraction continues to be the 4-H exhibits with a total of 3,894 4-H members participating during the fair with a total of 6,544 exhibits. The five leading 4-H events and number of entries were clothing, 1,250; foods, 990; horses, 887; home living, 599; and beef, 598.

Sixty Future Farmer of America chapters exhibited livestock and mechanics at the fair to further enlarge youth participation at the State Fair.

Brandt said the practice of inviting national livestock events to participate during the State Fair would be continued with a bid having been made for 1970 for a national showing of a dairy breed.

LIFE BEGINS AT FORTY:

Illegitimate Birth Upsets Daughter

By ROBERT PETERSON

Q. — "I'm a widow, 55, work in a department store. My daughter and her family live about 60 miles away. Jane walked in on me unexpectedly last October and said she had just learned she had been born out of wedlock. I was stunned, for this was something my husband and I had kept from her. We thought no one knew but our parents and they've been gone years. She demanded to know if it was true and I began crying and said it was. She left the house saying she didn't want any more contact with me. I've tried to phone but she hangs up. What can I do?"

A. — Give her time to regain her balance. She must be a very nervous and unstrung person to have reacted so harshly. Most mature, married children who have been treated kindly by their parents would be more understanding in such cases. Continue to show as much interest as possible in your daughter and take any rebuffs graciously and without bitterness. Develop a circle of friends in your age group so you won't be fully dependent on your daughter. What's done can't be undone. Perhaps you did wrong but that was a long time ago. Social attitudes have become more liberal. And the intervening years and the love you've shown your daughter should have won your forgiveness.

Q. — "The lovable but laughable bag of wind I'm wed to still gets starry-eyed occasionally and promises me, 'furs and jewels someday.' He's been promising me these things the three decades we've been wed and it's obvious I'll have to settle for rabbit and rhinestones. He's in a dead end job with a wallpaper firm and at 58 is never going to make more than his present $8,500 a year. What makes men keep promising things they can't deliver?"

A. — Hope springs eternal. Be grateful you get promises and stop feeling sorry for yourself. Rabbit and rhinestones look nearly as pretty as sables and sapphires and you don't grow gray worrying about losing them. Most women would be grateful for a spouse so optimistic and confident that he still spins dreams. After all, dreams can be richly satisfying in themselves. Many who have hit the jackpot in later years say the anticipation of wealth was sweeter than the realization.

Q. — "My wife nags me incessantly about smoking and drinking, and when I get mad she always says it's because she loves me — that if she didn't love me she couldn't care less if I smoked or drank myself to death. But I say that if she loves me she'll give me some peace and let me do as I choose. Don't you agree nagging is almost as bad as dying before your time?"

A. — Sure do. I think folks should spend the first decade of marriage trying to rebuild mates into perfect specimens. But if these years of persuasion don't effect desired changes, mates should bow to the inevitable and keep mum thereafter. Continued nagging simply erodes matrimonial harmony.

Council OKs No. 70th Projects

The Lincoln City Council Monday voted 6-1 to commit funds in next year's budget for street and storm sewer improvements on No. 70th St. in the vicinity of Cornhusker Hwy.

The plans call for widening to four lanes and resurfacing 70th St. from Fletcher Ave. south to the Burlington Railroad tracks and to install a storm sewer from Fletcher St. to Cumming St.

Public Works Director Robert Obering said the city's cost for the project would total $600,000 to $700,000.

Obering said street improvements would total $155,000 in construction costs and approximately $25,000 for purchase of right-of-way land. Storm sewer costs would total $400,000 to $500,000.

State officials had recently expressed a willingness to include improvements to 70th St. in plans for the a state project to widen Cornhusker Hwy. in the area.

Less Inconvenience

Obering pointed out that dovetailing the 70th St. improvements with the state's project would create less inconvenience in the long run for area residents. "The residents would be inconvenienced once rather than several times," he said regarding the blockage of streets for construction work.

He said that the street-widening accompanied by other street improvement projects would also encourage industrial development in the area and make it easier for trucks to get to the Archer-Daniels-Midland plant.

Obering indicated that financing the 70th St. improvements would mean less money in next year's budget for other needed street and storm sewer improvements.

He proposed to cut back on the allocation for the northeast diagonal in order to fund the street-widening.

Council To Wait

Council members, however, decided to wait until budget time to decide where, if necessary, to make any cutbacks.

Prior to voting, the council discussed at length whether the city might instead wait on the 70th St. improvements.

Council members had expressed qualms about committing a sizable sum of money for the storm sewer.

But Obering, who said that the state needed to know this week whether to include 70th St. in it's Cornhusker Hwy. project, said that the storm sewer installation is an integral part of any street construction work done on 70th St.

"Otherwise, we would have to rip up the street several years later to install the sewer," he explained.

Objection Voiced

Councilwoman Helen Boosalis, though, objected to spending money for storm sewers in the area in preference for other storm sewers and voted against committing the funds.

There are many older, residential areas in the community which have a greater need for the storm sewers," Mrs. Boosalis said.

But a majority of the council members felt that it would be to the city's advantage to do whatever is necessary to encourage industrial development.

Councilman Bill Davidson said that the "community at large desires industrial development. If we want industrial development, we are going to have to pay, even if other areas have to wait."

Inclusion Favored

The Capital Improvements Advisory Committee had earlier voted 3-2 favoring inclusion of the street-widening in the budget. No vote had been taken on the storm sewer.

Voting for inclusion were Obering, Mayor Sam Schwartzkopf, and Public Utilities Director Lee Blocker. City Finance Director James Mallon and Planning Director Doug Brogden had opposed it on the grounds that there was no immediate need for a four-lane street and that there were other needs for the $155,000 in street construction funds.

The street-widening had not been included in the 1969-75 capital improvements program. The storm sewer, which ranked 38th on the priority list, was listed for funding the 1974-75 and 1975-76 fiscal years.

Apartment Complex Plans Aired At Council Meet

Plans for an apartment complex for low income families were aired before the Lincoln City Council Monday.

Landmark Ltd. had requested a zoning change from A-2 Single Family to D Multiple Dwelling on land in the vicinity of 44th and O Sts. for the apartment complex.

Leon Olson, a partner in Landmark Ltd., told council members, who will act on the zoning request next week, that the land is not suited for single family residences. The land, located off 44th St. just north of O St. borders Wyuka Cemetery on two sides.

Olson said that the special assessments would total $3,500 for each lot, making the land "high priced if developed for single family use."

But Planning Director Doug Brogden and several council members questioned whether a multiple dwelling use would also be appropriate for the land.

Brogden said: "Basically, the land is not well suited for any kind of residential use."

He added that the land is also not near a bus stop or a concentrated business area, which he said are two essentials for which a low income apartment complex should be near.

Brogden and several council members agreed that theland could best be developed for business use such as professional office buildings.

Rents for the proposed garden type apartment units would be approximately $100 per month for one bedroom apartments, $120 for two bedroom units, and $140 for three bedroom units, utilities included.

Council members also held a public hearing on a zoning change from M Restricted Industry to H-S Highway Service on land at the northeast corner of N.W. 12th St. and West Bond Sts. near the entrance to the Union Pacific Industrial Tract.

Charles Wright, an attorney representing the applicant, Union Pacific Railroad Co., told council members that the zoning change is needed to construct a five-story motel at the site.

Wright said the 130-unit motel would be associated with the Sheraton chain. He said plans call for the motel to be ready by July 15 if the zoning change is approved.

No opposition was voiced for the zoning change, which council members will also act on next Monday.

—Introduced supplemental ordinance regarding certain insurance on proposed state telecommunications building to be leased to the state.

Ordinances, Pending

—Indefinitely postponed creation of a sewer district in 44th St. from approximately 500 feet south of Turner to 115 feet south of Turner. The area is already served by a sewer.

—Withdrew at request of applicant change of zone permitting meat processing and meat purveying in the H-2 Highway Commercial District under certain conditions.

Right Under Their Noses

Syracuse, N.Y. (AP) — The Ron Smith Cigar and Candy stand in Syracuse was broken into over the weekend and about $130 in cash and merchandise stolen, lifting the eyebrows of some police officials.

The stand is in the lobby of the Police and Sheriff's Dept. building.

'ASPIRES'

Tullah Hanley, 46, widow of wealthy investor Thomas E. Hanley of Bradford, Pa., said in San Francisco she is giving to museums her inherited collection of 211 impressionist paintings. Mrs. Hanley, a curvy exotic dancer, said she'll stand on display with the art because "I aspire to inspire before I expire."

Anyone Who'd Touch That . . .

Vancouver, Wash. (AP) — A 17-year-old youth was taken into custody for shoplifting at a local supermarket.

Police said he took two bottles of castor oil.

Early End Planned

Washington (AP) — Leaders of both parties in Congress announced plans to adjourn the present election-year session by Labor Day.

NU Grad Students Win Regional Auditions

Two graduate students at the University of Nebraska School of Music will represent an eight-state region at the National Music Teachers Association national auditions April 12-13, it was announced Monday.

Both Viletta Ware of Red Cloud and John Wilkinson of Lincoln were announced as winners in the divisional auditions of the association held Sunday in Minneapolis, Minn.

The national auditions will be held in Miami, Fla.

Miss Ware, winner at the collegiate level in voice, was a winner in district competition and represented the Lincoln district in regional metropolitan opera auditions in Minneapolis last year.

A student of Prof. John Zei, Miss Ware is singing the role of Santuzza in the forthcoming school of music production of the opera "Cavalleria Rusticana."

Wilkinson, a student of Prof. Wesley Reist, is principal clarinetist with the university symphony and a member of the Lincoln Symphony. He will represent the orchestral instruments.

Named alternate winner in the high school string division was Ellen Ravnan, 16, daughter of Prof. and Mrs. Audun Ravnan of Lincoln. She is a viola student of Prof. Morris Collier of Nebraska Wesleyan University.

Miss Ravnan was named in November as outstanding string player by the Nebraska Music Teachers Association.

The states involved in the divisional auditions were Nebraska, Colorado, Iowa, Kansas, Minnesota, Missouri, North Dakota and South Dakota.

Carpentry Tools Reported Missing

Police said Monday that an estimated $250 worth of carpentery tools were reported stolen from the construction site of the 1st National Bank Building at 13th and M.

The tools reportedly belong to Eliason & Knuth Drywall Co. of 3800 Touzalin.

Hawaii is our little corner of the world... we'll give you a whole week there for just $68.80.

We call Hawaii "our little corner of the world" because United flies more people to Hawaii on more nonstops from more cities than any other airline.

In fact, during the last 23 years, we've carried over 2½ million people to the Islands. So we know the Hawaii only the Hawaiians know!

Nobody beats our prices to Hawaii, either. Round-trip air fare can be as low as $300.* And there's a complete Hawaiian Holiday tour for whatever you want to spend. Everything from a week at Waikiki for as little as $68.80 (IT-UAH-01) to an exclusive tour of all seven Islands! (IT-UTH)

You can even have "privacy in Paradise" in your own apartment... five sparkling days on Oahu beginning with a traditional lei greeting. And including your own rent-a-car, refrigerator stocked with fresh fruit and other breakfast foods—even maps for pre-planning your sightseeing tour. What's it all cost? As low as $172 for two people. (IT-HAC-01)

Come fly United to our little corner of the world. On the way, you'll enjoy our famous Royal Hawaiian Service (Hawaiian stewards, orchid decorations, even stewardesses in Island dress).

Nobody matches United's service to Hawaii. So call United today at 477-7171, or see your Travel Agent.

Tell him you want to discover Hawaii... United's little corner of the world.

POSTCARD by Stan Delaplane

Rainy days around here. The rain that goes pitter patter on the roof also takes the curl out of your hair, dear.

"A half hour after I left the beauty parlor my hair went straight again."

That is the house wren and Brownie leader on the phone. No disaster so terrible as hair gone straight the night before the party.

"I'll have to wear my fall," she said. "It's being set."

A fall is a kind of wig. The wig has to be set like the owner's hair. The owner leaves it. Does not get to sit under the dryer. Cutting up cozy touches about the neighbors.

We took the retriever puppy to the vets for his eight-weeks-old shots. They weighed him in — 26 pounds!

"That dog is a little on the chubby side," said the vet. "Reduce him to three meals a day." (The puppy so far has been a four-alarmer.)

He gave us new vitamin pills. Some powdered cottage cheese. (The Waistliner they call that in the pub where I eat.)

Here the dog is only eight weeks in life. Already he's put on a diet.

☆ ☆ ☆

Our favorite animals on TV are Smokey the Bear and Lassie. I make everybody watch them downstairs.

"Don't pollute me with that noisy box of sound," I shouted. "Get downstairs with it."

They come back and report: "Smokey the Bear says don't play with matches."

They saw a picture of Lassie in the anti-litter campaign. Lassie picked up a beer can. Put it in the litter box.

Yet the people of California voted 7-1 to bar dogs from the state parks.

Here are the people who throw beer cans on the scenery, voting against the kindly animals who pick up the beer cans. Who's in charge around here anyway?

By having her time in at the beauty salon, the wren snatches off great gobs of info on the movie stars.

She sits under the dryer, hot air pouring on the Bonnie Fair, and absorbs the noblest thoughts of Mia Farrow.

The beauty salon keeps a stack of movie magazines on the rack. When the customers go under the noisy dryer they must stop rapping to each other about the neighbors.

☆ ☆ ☆

They let the movie magazines rap to them. Thus we know Who's Whose in the flicks.

When the Brownie leader has Brownie meetings, there is a five-minute talk on grooming.

All the Brownies must bring a hairbrush. Practice grooming.

Thus early in life they learn the absolute hell of having your hair go straight. Five minutes after you've just had it set.

Brownies exchange fascinating information.

"We took the dog to the vets. And just when we got him home, he threw up all over the car! Boy, was my mom mad!"

☆ ☆ ☆

This year the Brownies of our troop "fly up." They get out of the Brownies and become something else — Juniors I think. Later Girl Scouts.

They fly up knowing they must keep their hair clean and brushed and nicely fixed at all times. (The next generation under the dryer.)

I said to the wren: "Why don't you pull your straight hair back in a pony tail?"

She said: "To a party? Really!" As though I had said something dreadful about her mother.

☆ ☆ ☆

I bought a hairbrush in England. A swank shop. I didn't have a lot of hair — easy come, easy go — but I thought I'd give it a few licks for old time's sake.

The wren has been using it. Denies it hotly — but I know.

So I brushed the dog with it. Put it back where she can get at it again. Later I'll announce I'm using it for a dog brush. Happy days around Shady Acres!

Lesotho Voters To Decide Bitterly Contested Election

Maseru, Lesotho (UPI) — The people of this former British protectorate, once known as Basutoland, vote Tuesday in a bitterly contested election.

The outcome is vital to this impoverished state and to the "good neighbor" policy of the South African government of Premier John Vorster.

Lesotho's 12,000 square miles of rugged territory is completely surrounded by South Africa.

It is almost split in two by the struggle taking place between the ruling Basutho National Party (BNP) of Premier Lebua Jonathan and the Basutoland Congress Party (BCP) of South African-educated Ntsu Mokhehle.

If the Pan Africanist and Socialist BCP topples the prime minister from power there would be a complete re-alignment resulting from wide-ranging policy shifts, especially in relations with South Africa.

The BCP is quite open about its dislike of apartheid and Mokhehle made it clear he will seek a new deal with South Africa.

In terms of real bargaining power Lesotho has no hold over South Africa, except for the face value of good neighborliness.

Although the sources of South Africa's two major rivers — Orange and Tugela — are in Lesotho, the little territory would starve before these could be tampered with.

One-quarter of the male population of Lesotho is employed in South Africa — mainly in mines — and it is from their income the women and children Lesotho eat.

Jonathan was quick to point all this out while campaigning.

"Have you ever thought what would happen if thousands of Basutho workers in South Africa were repatriated because of a hostile government in Lesotho?" he asked.

Volcano Erupts

Port Moresby, New Guinea (UPI) — Mt. Ulawun, a volcano on the island of New Britain, erupted and spewed lava, hot ash and boulders down its northwestern slope. Officials said residents of the only village on that side of the volcano had been evacuated.

GOP In Move To Authorize No-Knock Raids By Police

Washington (AP) — Republican leaders in the Senate moved swiftly Monday to cut the ground from under senators trying to scuttle part of a drug-control bill allowing police to stage no-warning narcotics raids.

Assistant Republican leader Robert P. Griffin of Michigan acted to save the section following a day of sometime stormy debate in which senators argued such raids would be unconstitutional and destructive of basic American liberties.

He offered an amendment to make federal warrants authorizing no-warning raids more difficult to get by requiring agents to provide proof that evidence they seek is likely to be destroyed unless a raid is conducted suddenly and without warning.

The Griffin amendment is expected to relieve the doubts many senators said they had of the provision's constitutionality. His move delayed a vote on any amendment.

And it stalled a drive by Sen. Sam J. Ervin Jr., D-N.C., to strike the controversial provision altogether.

"This section would pervert and prostitute the right of a man to occupy his home as a castle," Ervin said in a speech in which he quoted the Bible, poetry, the Constitution, Supreme Court decisions, English common law, and his lawyer-father.

He said the provision is "totally inconsistent with a free society," and added:

"The bill would allow policemen to enter houses like thieves in the night. My associates and I are attempting to save one of the basic freedoms of the American people — the right not to be disturbed in their homes by an unreasonable search and an unreasonable seizure."

Sen. Thomas J. Dodd, D-Conn., the bill's chief sponsor, disagreed:

"There is no reason to fear that the police will go on a rampage of search-and-seizure missions, casually invading the privacy of thousands of innocent American homes under the pretense that they are suspected of harboring illegal narcotics," Dodd said.

"It is highly improbable," he said, "that the no-knock provision . . . will be abused for all sorts of fanciful reasons. The law-abiding citizen, the man who does not engage in the narcotics trade, will not find his door broken down by squads of narcotics agents engaged in a fishing expedition."

Ervin, quoting the English lawyer William Pitt, declared: "Necessity is the plea for every infringement of human liberty."

Emphasis On Science Said Crippling Nation

© The New York Times

Washington — Congress was warned Monday that the growing imbalance of science teaching and research over the humanities was dividing the nation, destroying its values and making it impossible for American to solve society's most serious problems.

Barnaby C. Keeney, historian and former president of Brown University, now heading the National Endowment for the Humanities, told a joint congressional subcommittee that American society was "in real trouble" because of the overwhelming emphasis on science and technology.

"It is my own conviction that until the electorate and the persons they elect can use historical and philosophical material to help decide the major public questions of the day, we shall not solve those problems," Keeney said.

He was the lead-off witness at hearings on President Nixon's proposed legislation that would double direct federal subsidies to the arts and humanities to $40 million next year. The President has also asked Congress to extend the legislative life of the National Foundation on the Arts and Humanities three years beyond its present termination date of June 30, 1970.

America now has, Keeney said, "generation faced against generation, race against race. To the best of my knowledge, there is no way to bring various opposing forces together excepting by a better understanding of the past, a better analysis of the present and a better view of the future."

22 DAYS' WORTH OF GARBAGE PILES UP

Twenty-two days' accumulation of garbage climbs the wall of an apartment building in the Mount Adams section of Cincinnati. Trash pile-up was the worst in tenement house sections. Garbage has not been collected since Jan. 5, when nearly 1,500 members of the Municipal Workers Union went on strike.

Like Stealing From A Baby

Spokane, Wash. (AP) — When burglars broke into Sambo's Restaurant Sunday night, they had little trouble opening the safe. The combination was pasted on the door.

Detective Howard Pratt said Monday the safe combination has been changed and the sticker has been removed.

Carswell OKd By ABA

Washington (UPI) — The American Bar Association said Monday that Judge G. Harrold Carswell was qualified to sit on the Supreme Court. AFL-CIO President George Meany urged, however, that he be rejected.

Lawrence E. Walsh, chairman of the ABA's Standing Committee on the Federal Judiciary, said in a letter to the Senate Judiciary Committee: "The integrity, judicial temperament and professional competence" of Carswell were investigated and he was found "qualified" for the post.

Walsh said the committee made its judgment after soliciting "the views of a substantial number of judges and lawyers who are familiar with Judge Carswell's work" and reviewing his published opinions.

The ABA made no recommendation on whether Carswell should be appointed. It said its recommendation was limited to Carswell's integrity, temperament and competence.

Meany said, that appoint-Nixon of "using Supreme Court nominations for partisan political advantage." The Carswell appointment, he said, reflected the "southern political strategy" of Atty. Gen. John N. Mitchell.

French Won't Even Discuss U.S. Claim For $900 Million

Washington (AP) — The French took over American facilities that cost more than $900 million when U.S. forces were evicted from France in 1966. To date French leaders have offered nothing in payment.

American officials say the French government was formally presented a claim in September 1968, followed last January by a detailed request for indemnity.

The matter has been "under study" by Paris since then meaning, officials say. France so far has given no indication whether she thinks the U.S request is too high or even whether she will bargain over it.

Officials concede they don't anticipate a French reply anytime in the near future, although the matter could come up when French President Georges Pompidou visits President Nixon Feb. 24.

Dubcek Resignation Reported

© The New York Times

Vienna — Reliable sources in Prague said Monday that Alexander Dubcek resigned from the Communist Party's central committee before he left for his new assignment as ambassador to Turkey Sunday.

Dubcek's written statement that he was withdrawing from his last party office probably will be submitted to the central committee when it meets in plenary session on Wednesday, the sources said.

The forthcoming plenum of the 125-member body, also is expected to bring other changes in the party and state structure, and new purges.

Informants in Prague said it appeared likely that Premier Oldrich Cernik would be replaced.

Alois Indra, secretary of the central committee and a conservative who is highly regarded in Moscow, has been mentioned as a leading candidate to succeed Cernik.

Episcopal Council Adjourns After Election Attempt Fails

Hastings — A special council of the Episcopal Diocese of Nebraska adjourned here Monday after 14 unsuccessful attempts to elect a bishop-coadjutor for the diocese.

The adjournment came after two days of meetings and 14 election ballots.

There was no indication whether the council would be reconvened or another election called, according to the Rev. James Hunkins of Falls City, editor of the Nebraska Churchman, a diocesan publication.

Fourteen churchmen were nominated for the post s coadjutor. The winner would have succeeded the denomination's bishop of Nebraska upon his retirement.

The present bishop is the Rt. Rev. Russell T. Rauscher of Omaha, who requested the election last May, indicating he wished to work with a coadjutor two years before retiring.

Those nominted for the position included the Rev. James L. Stillwell Jr. of St. Matthew's Episcopal Church in Lincoln.

Other Nebraskans nominated included the Very Rev. A. Donald Davies, the Rev. Edward A. Groves Jr. and the Rev. Donald F. Haviland, all of Omaha, and the Very Rev. George H. Peek of Hastings.

Also nominated were the Rev. James S. Cox of Dallas, the Very Rev. C. Julian Bartlett of San Francisco, the Rev. Graham Norman William Lesser of Hayward, Calif., the Rt. Rev. Frederick W. Putnam of Oklahoma, the Rev. Carroll E. Simcox of Milwaukee, the Rev. Willis H. Steinberg of Minneapolis, the Rev. Samuel Steinmetz Jr. of New Jersey, the Rt. Rev. Albert Ervine Swift of Boca Raton, Fla. and the Rt. Rev. Albert W. VanDuzar of New Jersey

The special council included 189 voting delegates representing 74 congregations and 20,000 communicant members in the state.

Western Traffic Greatly Delayed By E. Germans

Berlin (AP) — East German border guards, continuing a week-old campaign of harrassment of West Berlin traffic, caused a massive pile-up of outbound trucks from West Berlin at East-West crossing points Monday night.

The East Germans interfered with road traffic in protest against West German political meetings in West Berlin.

Modernization Set

Bahrain (AP) — Sheikh Hamed bin Isa, ruler of this oil-rich sheikhdom, announced he will modernize his government by cutting it from 24 departments to a state council of 12. The sheikh, in his early 20s, will be defenes minister.

New Ways Sought To 'Reach' Minority Students

By VIRGIL FALLOON
Star Staff Writer

Educators are looking for new ways to "reach" students of minority races regarding educational and job opportunities, the Governor's Minority Youth Advisory Council was told Monday.

Several advisory council members suggested a gap exists between high school counselors and minority students.

However, Omaha and Lincoln school board officials said their schools are conscientiously trying to pattern counseling services to the individual needs of students.

"What is a counselor?" asked Dr. Merle M. Musselman, Omaha school board president. "One with the required number of tickets (academic degrees) or one who can do the job with people?"

Both Lincoln and Omaha school officials said the "ability to relate to people" is the top consideration in picking counselors.

On the subject of scholarships, the educators said Nebraska Wesleyan University and the University of Nebraska have "full scholarships" specifically for black Americans.

Many liberal art collges in the state and region "are going out of their way to recruit students from minority groups," they said. "Federal loans are available for academically qualified black students."

However, Eugene Skinner, assistant Omaha schools superintendent for human relations, said one of the problems of high school counseling is to motivate minority youths "that they can make it."

Handicapped

School officials said they were partially handicapped by inability to recruit the needed number of qualified black counselors.

Regarding recreational opportunities for high school students of minority races, Art May of the Lincoln Action Program admitted there as a "void" in recreational opportunities for economically deprived youths.

He said the problems may be resolved in the future by new federal requirements that funds must be spent on year-round programs and young people must be involved in the planning.

Facilities Available

William Bogar, Lincoln High School principal, said school facilities are available after hours for organized recreation and sports, but that minority groups are handicapped in finding sponsors for such programs.

Chairman of the governor's advisory council is Jacqueline August of Lincoln. The council is studying the viewpoints of minority youths on problems in education, jobs, law enforcement and recreation.

Gov. Norbert T. Tiemann named the council to advise his office and suggest executive and legislative action.

State To Begin Okaying Requests For Retardation Funds On April 1

State Mental Retardation Director George Thomas said Monday his office hopes to begin approving applications for state aid to community-based mental retardation facilities and programs about April 1.

His comments followed a public hearing in Lincoln on the Office of Mental Retardation's proposed minimum program standards for public and private agencies serving the mentally retarded.

There was no major opposition to the standards, and Thomas said the standards with technical modifications would be forwarded to the attorney general and governor for approval.

Developed Last Year

The standards were developed under LB855, enacted by the 1969 Legislature, for mental retardation facilities and programs funded in whole or in part with state aid.

The Legislature appropriated $550,000 for community-based programs and tentative regional allocations for the biennium have been made on the basis of population.

Thomas said some 15 letters of intent to apply for funds have been received so far from public and private agencies. An application deadline has been set for Feb. 15.

Minimum Rules

The proposed rules and regulations establish minimum program and staffing standards for the applying agencies, but adopt present state or federal licensing standards for mental retardation facilities.

Thomas said the types of facilities or programs fundable by the state office include day-care centers, human development centers, sheltered workshops and some residential-care facilities.

LB855 provides the state may share up to 60% of the cost of the community-based programs, but Thomas indicated the available state funds may huve to be pro-rated to lesser shares.

Thomas said first priority would be given applications for improvement or expansion of existing programs, but regions without existing programs could qualify new programs for funding.

Managers Urged To Take More Pride In County Fairs

The Association of Fair Managers convened its annual meeting here Monday afternoon with President Dale Thompson of McCook urging county fair managers "to take more pride in their annual fairs."

Thompson said the fair is the one activity "that bridges the generation gap."

He said the fair appeals as much to the youth as it does to the adult and it remains an event in which the entire family can participate for recreation, competition and educational purposes.

"A continued strong county fair can be our best investment in the future," said Thompson.

State Fair Manager Henry Brandt reminded the combined meeting of fair managers and the State Board of Agriculture that fairs "are the only place where you can gather information, and enjoy recreation and pleasure at one and the same time."

Brandt said fair officials must adopt quality as a watchword for the future.

"Quality at a fair will be remembered after the quantity and the price are forgotten. What we need is cheering up, loosening up, new ideas, new interests, new hopes and new enterprises with which to meet the future for fairs," said Brandt.

Nebraska's Medicaid May Top Budget

Nebraska's Medicaid program may run more than $4 million over its budget for the 1969-71 biennium, an official said Monday.

Jerry Lemonds, director of the Welfare Department's medical services division, said the number of patients and average cost for the first six months of the period were above estimates.

"Instead of handling 21,716 mediciad patients at $98.64 per month as projected in budgeting sessions, the average caseload to date has been 22,029 at $105.03 monthly," he said.

Lemonds told the Nebraska Medical Advisory Committee on Medicaid that if the trend established in the first six months of the fiscal period continues, the cost for the biennium will be $55,110,412.

The program has been allocated $50,799,733. Originally the department requested $56,220,941 be authorized by the Legislature.

State funds account for only 22.75% of the program, with counties picking up 20% of the cost and the federal government the remainder.

ASTROLOGICAL FORECAST

☆ By SIDNEY OMARR ☆

Forecast For Tuesday

Arguments tend to erupt between partners on personal, professional levels. Lovers' quarrels should not be taken too seriously. Applies specifically to Aries and Libra.

☆ ☆ ☆

ARIES (March 21-April 19): You get usual results from unorthodox sources. Be willing to accept challenge. Get promises, agreements in writing. Then proceed toward goal.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20): Work within familiar frame of reference. Be wary that one is not looking over your shoulder at what should be confidential memo. Take nothing for granted.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20): Avoid trying to force views on friend. Be willing to listen. One who appeared cool shows renewed interest. You could discover love!

CANCER (June 21-July 22): Don't try to impose strict conditions on associates, family members. Express feelings in sincere manner. This will bring better results than any shouting match.

LEO (July 23-August 22): Avoid journey that is not absolutely necessary. Element of confusion is such that people tend to be late, break appointments or forget. Take your time and you will save money.

VIRGO (August 23-September 22): You don't have to be extravagant to please family member. Love and the Golden Rule accomplish goal. Consider budget but don't sacrifice quality.

LIBRA (September 23-October 22): You can only do one thing at a time. Fooling yourself with too many irons on fire is destructive. You don't own anyone. Permit loved one the greater freedom requested.

SCORPIO (October 23-November 21): You may feel imposed upon. But doing good work today pays emotional dividends. Psychic income is of great importance to you. You gain it by giving forth top efforts.

SAGITTARIUS (November 22-December 21): Friends who seem pugnacious are temporarily disturbed. Strive to be objective. Don't compound error. Your appeal widens — more persons become familiar with your aspirations.

CAPRICORN (December 22-January 19): Ambitions come closer to fulfillment. There is action in area that seemed static. Have confidence. Assert needs, desires. Could be conflict between home and professional activities.

AQUARIUS (January 20-February 18): Good lunar aspect today coincides with communication from one who means much to you. Not wise to permit impulse to dominate. Leave ample room for logical reaction.

PISCES (February 19-March 20): Be cautious in financial areas. You may be in too much of a hurry. Give yourself time to obtain best possible deal. If versatile — and patient — definite gain is possible.

IF TODAY IS YOUR BIRTHDAY you are attracted to medicine, to humanitarian projects. You possess dramatic ability and many claim you have more appeal than the top movie personalities. These qualities will be emphasized during the upcoming year.

Former Coed Has Candlelight Service

At a 7 o'clock ceremony on Saturday evening, Jan. 24, the marriage of Miss Elaine Faith Schuchman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Schuchman, to Richard Lawrence Gordon of Forest Hills, N.Y., son of Mrs. David Gordon, also of Forest Hills, and the late Mr. Gordon, took place at the Tifereth Israel Synagogue. The candellight service was solemnized by Rabbi Morton Waldman, beneath a white Grecian canopy interlaced with white iris, white hyacinths and miniature ivy. Mrs. Marilynn Witt played the wedding music, and Mrs. Richard Segal was the vocal soloist.

Long-sleeved Empire bodices of old-fashioned lace above floor-length skirts of cranberry velvet were worn by Mrs. Robert Schuchman of Omaha, the matron of honor, and Miss Kay Schuchman who was her sister's maid of honor. The bridemaids, including Miss Ilyne Gordon of Forest Hills, N.Y., sister of the bridegroom; Miss Diane Hoy of Denver, Colo.; Miss Cheri Wheeler of Kansas City, Mo., and Miss Terry Hoy, appeared in frocks fashioned with the long-sleeved lace bodices, but with velvet skirts in the candy shade. Each of the attendants carried a nosegay of flowers in shades of pink and cranberry.

David Berman of New York City served as best man, and seating the guests were Robert Schuchman of Omaha, Sandford Schuchman, both brothers of the bride; Marvin Fleischman of New York City; Howard Mann of San Francisco, Calif., and Ronald Mann of Santa Barbara, Calif.

The bride chose a gown of peau de soie in the candelight tone for her wedding. The Empire bodice, designed with a high neckline and long, Juliet sleeves cuffed with lace, was patterned with re-embroidered lace and pearls. The lace motif was repeated on the floor-length, A-line skirt, and on the detachable train which extended into cathedral length. Her tiered veil of silk illusion was held to the head with a beaded Camelot coif and she carried a bouquet of white hyacinths, baby's breath and miniature ivy.

Mr. Gordon and his bride will reside in Forest Hills, N.Y.

The bride is a graduate of the University of Nebraska Teachers College. Mr. Gordon is a graduate of Queen's College in New York City and now is a graduate student in clinical psychology at St. John's University in New York City.

MISS SUSAN LASSETT

This morning Mr. and Mrs. Robert Lassett of North Palm Beach, Fla., formerly of Omaha, make announcement of the engagement of their daughter, Susan, to Tom Kovarik, son of John G. Kovarik of Omaha, and the late Mrs. Kovarik.

The wedding is planned for Friday, June 5.

Miss Lassett and her fiance are both seniors at the University of Nebraska.

BRIDES BOOK

For her marriage to Marshall E. Lux Jr., which takes place on Friday, Jan. 30, Miss Terri Joan Wheeler daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Penner, has chosen Miss Connie Weygint as her maid of honor.

Dan Wheeler, brother of the bride-elect, will serve as best man and Jim Penterman and Kim Wheeler, a brother of the bride-elect, will seat the guests for the 7:30 o'clock service which will be solemnized at St. Teresa's Church.

On January 22 Miss Wheeler was an honoree when Mrs. Donald Penterman was hostess at a miscellaneous shower at her home.

Another January bride, Miss Cheryl Johnson, of Waverly, whose marriage to Stephen Moncure will be an event of Saturday, Jan. 31, also has been kept busy with prenuptial courtesies recently.

On Sunday Jan. 18, Miss Johnson was the honored guest at a bridal shower when Mrs. Ernest Dietze and Mrs. Thomas Mocroft, both of Waverly, entertained 12 guests at the home of Mrs. Dietze.

Then on Sunday, Jan. 25, Mrs. William Fahleson, Mrs. Roger Tyrell and Mrs. Richard Tyrrell, all of Waverly, were hostesses at a shower for 30 guests at which Miss Johnson was honored when they entertained at the home of Mrs. Fahleson's.

Dinner Held

Featured speaker at the Homestead Girl Scout Council's annual meeting and dinner, which took place Sunday at the Lincoln Center, was Dr. Vance D. Rogers of Nebraska Wesleyan University, who spoke on the topic "The Girl of the Seventies." Approximately 180 delegates from the thirteen county area were in attendance at the meeting.

Mrs. Edwin Wilson was presented Girl Scouting's highest award, the Thanks Badge, for her work with the Council; and Certificates of Merit were awarded to a number of business and governmental concerns in the Council area in recognition of their service to Girl Scouting. Mrs. Harold Hamlin Homestead Council office manager, was cited for her 31 years with the organization.

Suburbia—On The Go

With the first month of 1970 flying by in as rapid a fashion as possible, Lincoln's suburban residents seem to be having a little difficulty finding enough minutes in every day to accommodate their busy schedules. This morning we have news of travelers, a guest or two, and a recent addition to the family of two Lincoln residents — So, before time slips away entirely, on to the business at hand!

Activity in the Lincoln Heights home of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Sattler the weekend of Jan. 16 was centered around the marriage of Mr. and Mrs. Sattler's daughter, the former Miss Sandy Sattler, and Jaime Obrecht. The wedding took place on Saturday, Jan. 17, and arriving on Friday for the event was another of Mr. and Mrs. Sattler's daughters, Mrs. James Schmitz of Bakersifield, Calif. Mrs. Schmitz, the former Miss Phyllis Sattler, returned to California, where both she and her husband teach, on Sunday, Jan. 18.

Last Friday, Mrs. Sattler, Mrs. Harold Keech and Mrs. Dale Janda were hostesses at a very interesting get-together which took place at the Havelock YWCA. At that particular time, the three ladies entertained 20 members of the Matronettes club at a "mystery dinner."

Returning to Lincoln last week following a three-month vacation which took her to Texas, Mississippi and Illinois was Mrs. Avis J. White. Her travels began in November, and her first destination was Houston, Tex. where she spent some time as a guest at the home of her son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Bill White and family.

From Houston, it was on to Gulfport, Miss. where she enjoyed a visit with another of her sons and his wife, Mr. and Mrs. Robert White.

Her final destination before returning to Nebraska was Galesburg, Ill. where she visited with her sisters, Mrs. Ollie Spellman and Mrs. Dorothy Hinman. Arriving from her Chicago home to make the family reunion complete was another of Mrs. White's sisters, Mrs. Jack Martin.

That new family addition we mentioned earlier is Master Sean Michael Hedgecock, who made his world debut on Monday, Jan. 12. Sean, who is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Hedgecock of Littleon, Colo., is the first grandchild for Lincoln residents Mr. and Mrs. Randall Sims. The young man's paternal grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Hedgecock, who make their home in Grand Island.

We understand that both Mr. and Mrs. Hedgecock (the former Marcia Sims) are graduates of the University of Nebraska.

Taking advantage of the Thursday-through-Sunday end of semester holiday enjoyed by Lincoln school children last week were Mr. and Mrs. Maurice Walker and daughters, Tricia, Leslie and Karin, who took some time out for a bit of traveling. The Walker family boarded the plane on Wednesday evening for a flight to Minneapolis, Minn., where they enjoyed visiting with family members.

During their stay in Minnesota they were guests at the home of Mr. Walker's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Walker of Edina; and of course they also visited with Mrs. Walker's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Wickenkamp of Bloomington.

On Saturday evening, the home of grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Walker was the scene of a birthday celebration honoring Tricia who became an eight-year-old on that particular date. A family dinner marked the occasion since the maternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Wickenkamp also were on hand for the festivities.

Mr. and Mrs. Walker and the children returned to Lincoln on Sunday.

Opening lead—king of clubs.

In bridge, as in war, cutting enemy communications will sometimes catapult you into a victory you might not otherwise be able to score.

Here is a dramatic example of how it is possible to tip the scales in your favor by means of an interference play. The deal occurred in a national championship and declarer was Richard Freeman, of Atlanta, Quiz Kid star of radio almost a generation ago.

West led the king of clubs and Freeman (South) won with the ace. It was apparent that the only real danger was the possibility of a club ruff, but, instead of leading a trump in an effort to stop this, Freeman made the extraordinary lead of the jack of diamonds at trick two.

As a result of this fine stroke the contract could not be defeated. The only tricks declarer lost were a heart, a diamond and a club, and there was nothing the defense could do to acquire another trick.

However, let's suppose that South had led a trump at trick two, as most declarers in Freeman's shoes would have done. In that case the contract would have gone down one against proper defense.

West would win with the ace of hearts, cash the queen of clubs, lead a low diamond to his partner's queen, and ruff the club return to produce the fourth trick for the defense.

Furthermore, this series of plays by East-West would not have been difficult to find. West would naturally assume that East, who had jump-raised to four diamonds, had at least the king of that suit — and East would assume that West's underlead of the ace of diamonds after cashing the queen of clubs was a clear-cut request for a club ruff.

The jack of diamonds lead at trick two destroyed a vital link in East-West's line of communications, and in one fell swoop disintegrated the defense.

Abby: nary a bald Indian

Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: Have you ever seen a bald Indian? No! That's because they shampoo their hair only a few times a year. I am not an Indian, but I am living proof that this is true. I am in my sixties and I have thick, luxuriant brown hair. People think I dye it, so I have a standing offer of one thousand dollars to anyone who can fine one dyed hair in my head.

I shampoo my hair only a few times a year. Most Americans wash the life out of their hair. They scrub it, brush it, tint it, dye it, curl it, straighten it, tease it, spray it, and burn it to a frazzle. No wonder we are becoming a nation of bald women and well into the wig age.

SAN FRANCISCO

DEAR S.F.: The fact that I've never seen a bald Indian, doesn't mean there aren't any. Will a bald Indian please contact this column? (And enclose your picture.)

DEAR ABBY: My husband and I have been married nearly 10 years and we have a real nice family. I have always trusted my husband, but about a month ago he told me that he had propositioned my younger sister who is a very pretty divorcee. He said she turned him down. I told him I'd forgive him if he'd promise never to do it again. He promised, and I really forgave him.

Now last Sunday he came to me with another confession. He said that twice last week when he said he had to work late he was over at my sister's trying to get her to change her mind.

I didn't say much, but of course I was hurt. Now here is the part I can't figure out. My sister was here today and I told her that my husband had confessed to me about how he had been after her. I told her I was proud of her for turning him down, and Abby, she swore with one hand on Mamma's Bible, and the other hand to God that my husband never made one move toward her! I believe my sister. But why would my husband want to tell lies like that?

CAN'T UNDERSTAND

DEAR CAN'T: He is either sick, and is having hallucinations, or he is well, and is trying to get you to throw him out.

Strike Costly—To Everyone

That strike of pari-mutuel clerks at the Santa Anita race track is now in its fourth week and it's getting costly to everyone, from the state to the clerks.

The strike thus far has cost the state $5.5 million in betting taxes; the horsemen have lost $1.585 million in purses; the track has lost $1.320 million and the striking clerks have lost $553,000 in wages.

But it's a little easier to sympathize with those clerks than it is with Curt Flood, the traded St. Louis Cardinal who's suing baseball over its reserve clause when the sport is putting $90,000 a year in his checking account.

On Recruiting Of Wilt

Kansas sports information director Jay Simon in a biographical sketch of former great Jayhawk basketball coach Phog Allen recalls Allen's comment to a reporter who called him for comment on Wilt Chamberlain's decision to enroll at KU.

"That's wonderful news," was Phog's reaction. "I hope he'll come out for the team."

New Mexico State SID Sonny Yates claims Rudy Franco, who will appear with the New Mexico State cagers against Creighton at Omaha Thursday night, recently consumed a breakfast of 32 scrambled eggs and six glasses of milk.

Computer Rematch Demanded

Middleweight champion Nino Benvenuti says he'll agree to a computerized fight with Sugar Ray Robinson, ala the Clay-Marciano affair, but on one condition — that he get a return bout clause.

TV did it again in its continuing role as policy-maker for sports events: In the final round of the Bing Crosby Tournament Sunday, the leaders teed off in the middle of the pack instead of at the end as usual so they'd be within camera range at the scheduled TV hours.

If the American League permits the Seattle Pilots owners to sell at the designated price of $8.8 million, the owners will make a tidy sum of $3.8 million after buying the club for $5 million a year ago. Not a bad profit for one year's operation.

Auto Races Big Attraction

The auto races were the biggest single attraction at the 1969 Nebraska State Fair, taking in $45,757.00. Only the total of seven grandstand shows with $52,161.74 grossed more with the exception of all the carnival rides which brought in $56,698.48.

Race-goers to last summer's State Fairgrounds meeting spent $47,019.10 on beer.

The first horse to arrive on the grounds at Grand Island's Fonner Park this winter for the season that gets under way March 20 was Miss Fonner, a two-year-old filly owned by Mrs. Emma Fonner Corey of Grand Island.

KSU Seeking Good Game

College athletic departments are taking different approaches to the addition of an 11th football game to their schedule. Some are seeking a lesser team they can get for a cheap guarantee while others hope to add a name attraction.

Kansas State is in the latter group. Says K-State athletic director Ernie Barrett: "I want it to be an attraction that will compliment our wave of football enthusiasm at Kansas State. I don't want it to be just another game."

A seasick sailor was leaning over the rail as the irate captain watched. Captain: "You can't be sick here." Sailor: "Watch."

Changes To Be Made In Lincoln Racing Purses

. . . BRANDT HOPES TO ATTRACT BETTER GRADE OF HORSES WITH BOOST IN FEATURE PURSES

By HAL BROWN
Star Sports Editor

Nebraska State Fair manager Henry Brandt, who has tried everything from twilight racing to the sale of beer to improve horse racing at the Lincoln meeting, will try another twist this summer.

Brandt in releasing his annual report to the State Fair Board Monday said a new purse schedule would be put into effect this summer in an effort to attract a better grade of horses to the State Fairgrounds meeting that will run from July 8 to Aug. 8.

Brandt said the minimum purse would be dropped from $1200 to $1100, but that he hoped to stage at least one $2000 race per day with a $3000 or more tops on Saturdays.

The move was made primarily, he said, to try to boost attendance that sagged 2.7 last summer while the betting handle was up 2.2% as the $5 million mark was surpassed again.

"We have room for 1200 horses on the grounds which is sufficient for numbers," Brandt said. "But our big job is to upgrade the quality of horses and we hope to accomplish this by offering the larger purses for feature races.

"We feel that the best way to boost attendance is to give the bettors a better grade of horses on which to wager."

Another factor in changing the purse schedule, according to Brandt, is the change in the track's contract with the horsemen that goes into effect this season, boosting the share of the track's commission that must go for purses to 46%.

"What we must do is have a bigger spread between our minimum purse and our top purse," he pointed out. "We hope to be able to set our minimum purse at $1100 and run at least a $2000 purse every day and a $3000 plus on Saturday.

"In order to attract better stock, we must give them the opportunity to run and for a purse that is sufficient for the quality of horse."

Brandt also revealed plans for a slight cutback in twilight racing, reducing from four to three the number of days per week for the 5 p.m. post time with a 2 p.m. post time on Saturday and one other day.

"Twilight racing has certainly helped to beat the heat," he noted, "But we feel that four twilight racing days are a little too many, so in 1970 we will race twilight only three days. We feel this will give an opportunity for more people out-state and out-of-state to attend the races."

The Fair manager also revealed some track improvements that have been made and are being made, including work on the track itself and in the barn areas.

"We have reworked the No. 1 turn," he mentioned, "And banked about two more feet, which will improve our racing. We are now in the process of repairing the barns north of the race track, replacing sills, partitions and doors where needed. Also, we are building tack rooms in all barns that can be locked."

While income from racing surpassed the one million dollar mark for the first time in 1969, the profit was down slightly from 1968 because of an increase in expenses.

The racing profit for 1969 was $102,000 as opposed to a $107,000 profit figure in 1968.

While betting receipts were up to $719,000 from $703,000, general admission receipts were down to $33,000 from $36,000 in 1968.

Horsemen were paid $266,600 in purses in 1968 and $285,400 in purse money last season. The State Treasury also got a bigger share in 1969, getting $165,459.60 in pari-mutuel taxes against $160,961.32 in 1968.

NFL-AFL DRAFT TODAY

Steelers' No. 1 Said Bradshaw

. . . MCCOY, PHIPPS MAY BE 2 AND 3

New York (AP) — Quarterback Terry Bradshaw of Louisiana Tech, defensive tackle Mike McCoy of Notre Dame and quarterback Mike Phipps of Purdue are expected to be the first names picked today when the professional football clubs hold their annual combined draft.

The draft by the 26 teams of the merged American and National Football Leagues will start at 9 a.m. CST and will run through Wednesday or until 17 rounds have been completed and 442 players have been selected.

Pittsburgh gets first pick because it finished with a 1-13 won-lost record in the NFL and won a coin toss from the Chicago Bears who had a similar record.

The teams draft in reverse order of the club's percentage ratings in the combined NFL-AFL standings for 1969 with two exceptions. Minnesota the Super Bowl loser, will be 25th and Kansas City, the Super Bowl winner, will be 26th and last in the first round.

Green Bay and San Francisco each will have two first-round selections because of trades.

The Packers acquired the Bear's No. 1 pick, second in the entire draft, when they sent linebacker Leroy Caffey, running back Elijah Pitts and guard-center Bob Hyland to the Bears. The Redskins gave up their No. 1 to the 49ers in the swap that brought offensive tackle Walter Rock to Washington.

Pro football experts expect the Steelers to take Bradshaw, unless they trade away their rights, the Packers to grab McCoy and the Browns to take Phipps.

Trades probably will be made right up to post time. Previous deals have left teams with a varying number of selections, topped by St. Louis' 22 all the way down to the Los Angeles Rams' 12.

When two or more teams were tied in the season standings, a coin flip decided the initial order. They flip-flop back and forth on succeeding rounds.

This is the order for the first round: 1. Pittsburgh, 2. Green Bay from Chicago, 3. Miami, 4. Boston, 5. Buffalo. 6. Philadelphia, 7. Cincinnati, 8. St. Louis, 9. San Francisco, 10. New Orleans, 11. Denver, 12. Atlanta, 13. New York Giants, 14. Houston, 15. San Diego, 16. Green Bay, 17. San Francisco from Washington, 18. Baltimore, 19. Detroit, 20. New York Jets, 21. Cleveland, 22. Los Angeles, 23. Dallas, 24. Oakland, 25. Minnesota, 26 Kansas City.

In addition to Bradshaw, Phipps and McCoy, the pros are expected to zoom in early on defensive end Phil Olsen of Utah State, Mike Reid, defensive tackle from Penn State, Steve Owens, the Oklahoma running back, and Heisman Trophy Award winner; Jim Mandich, Michigan tight end; Dennis Shaw, San Diego quarterback; Ken Burroughs, Texas Southern receiver; Bob Anderson, Colorado's All-American running back; Steve Kiner, Tennessee linebacker; Margene Adkins, a wide receiver who played out his option in Canada; Ted Koy, Texas running back; Charlie-Pittman, Penn State runner, and Jim Otis, Ohio State fullback.

Although there are many top flight football players in the 1969 crop there is none to compare with the glamor of O. J. Simpson, the Southern California flash who was taken by the Buffalo Bills as the No. 1 pick a year ago.

Meylan Traded

New York (AP) — The New York Giants traded wide receiver Homer Jones to the Cleveland Browns Monday for defensive tackle Jim Kanicki, running back Ron Johnson and linebacker Wayne Meylan.

Jones, 28, formerly an all-league end, recently completed his sixth year with the National Football League club, catching 42 passes for 744 yards and one touchdown.

Kanicki, 27, suffered a broken leg in the final preseason game but returned to play regularly at defensive tackle for the Browns in the final games, including the playoffs and championship game with Minnesota.

Johnson, a 22-year-old rookie from Michigan where he broke Tom Harmon's rushing record, was a regular for the Browns most of the year, giving way to Bo Scott in the final stages. Johnson ran for 472 yards, an average of 3.4 yards, and scored seven touchdowns. He also caught 24 passes for 164 yards.

Meylan, a 23-year-old Nebraska product, was used primarily on special teams but is figured on by the Giants as a middle linebacker.

He will join other ex-Cornhuskers, John Kirby and Freeman White, on the New York team.

Coach Alex Webster of the Giants was reached just before he took off for a sports dinner in New England.

"Although I hate to lose a player of Homer Jones' ability," he said, "we saw an opportunity to strengthen our ball club at three positions.

"We feel Don Herrmann, Dick Houston and Freeman White are three young outside receivers who can do the job for us next year.

FOREMAN WINS ON KO

Irish Jack O'Halloran of Boston tries to lift himself off the mat during the fifth round of his scheduled 10-round heavyweight bout with George Foreman of Hayward, Calif. Monday night at New York's Madison Square Garden. O'Halloran was unable to regain his feet, giving Foreman a knockout win in 1:10 of the fifth. It marked Foreman's 15th straight victory as a pro. Foreman battered O'Halloran with left hooks, dropping him with a left and right just as as the bell sounded in the fourth round.

Undefeated Fighters May Win Golden Gloves

By HAL BROWN
Star Sports Editor

Two of the smaller stables entered in this week's Southeast District Golden Gloves at Pershing Auditorium could produce a number of champions when the titleholders are crowned after the Wednesday and Thursday night action that gets under way both nights at 8 p.m.

Three of the five boxers in the camps of the Straight Edge team coached by Dick and Gene Olson and the Sayler Water Co. team coached by Ted White are undefeated this season.

Stan Lemaster of Straight Edge and Tina Orta and Randy Nelson of Saylor will all take 3-0 records into the Wednesday night preliminaries.

Nelson, the 156-pound champion in 1968 who lost in the finals of that weight class to Russ Blank a year ago, has posted three straight decision triumphs in Lincoln smokers this season.

He owns decisions over Steve Fentress of Fairbury, Mike Reed of Omaha and Jim Waters of Fairbury.

The Lincoln car salesman, who is expected to bid for the 165-pound title this time, could meet Waters again this week.

Orta, a 119-pounder in his first year of boxing, also has racked up three straight decision wins, gaining nods over Dean Strough of Lincoln Aamco, Fred Boye of Stromsburg and earning a third decision in a recent Hastings smoker.

The 139-pound Lemaster's victories also have come via the decision route, owning two verdicts over Dan Helmkamp and one over Fred Orduna, both fighters out of the Aamco stable.

In bidding for the 139-pound crown, Lemaster could run into Tim Cox, the 1966 118-pound champion who is making a comeback for the Roberts Dairy team.

RANDY NELSON

The other fighter in the Straight Edge camp is John Kreifels, a 147-pounder who has yet to have a fight go the distance this season.

Kreifels owns a first round TKO over Mitch Lowe of Aamco and was a second round TKO victim of Aamco's Mike Wilcox.

The other fighter in the Sayler camp, 125-pounder Roger Carmichael, owns a 1-2 record with a decision over Lowe and decision setbacks to Lonnie Erickson of Stromsburg and Dean Strough of Aamco.

Eldro Hansen, co-chairman of the sponsoring Lincoln Master Barbers, said any fighters wishing to participate in the two-day tourney must show up for Wednesday's weigh-ins that will get under way at 2:30 p.m. at Pershing Auditorium.

—COZAD, ELKHORN STILL TOPS—

Season's Stiffest Tests Face Class B, C Leaders This Week

By VIRGIL PARKER
Prep Sports Writer

Cozad and Elkhorn continue to head the Class B and C high school basketball ratings, but both leaders face their stiffest challenge of the season this week.

Cozad hosts No. 2 Lexington, a team the Haymakers squeezed by, 56-53, in their first meeting, While Elkhorn joins nine other teams in the Capitol Conference tournament with No. 4 Arlington and highly-regarded Waverly also in the field.

Lexington advanced a notch over the Class B ratings of a week ago at the expense of Laurel, which fell back to third despite its 13th straight victory of the season.

Laruel barely managed a one-point triumph over Class C Madison, allowing the latter to make the top ten in the smaller-school division.

Other Class B changes saw Valentine, Omaha Cathedral and Omaha Pau VI all advance at the expense of Seward and Geneva, although the top ten still features the same quintets.

Seward, after a Friday night success against always tough Aurora, lost to Class C's No. 6 David City to account for the Bluejay skid.

Geneva, though picking up a win in its only game over the past week, slipped along with Seward, having dropped two of its three losses to the Bluejays.

Valentine made the biggest advancement from tent to sixth, on its showing against No. 1 Cozad. The Badgers lost a narrow 68-66 decision to the Haymakers, their first defeat to a Nebraska foe.

The Class C ratings underwent one of its biggest shuffles of the year.

Two newcomers join the list, with some change occuring in all but the top four spots.

West Point and Pawnee City continue two-three behind leader Elkhorn, with Arlington again fourth.

But Milford, unbeaten in its first nine, went down to Henderson, 64-54, to bring about the biggest change.

Sargent, still perfect with a 9-0 mark, jumps up to Milford's No. 5 spot and David City, despite its fourth loss, goes up two notches to sixth.

David City plays what is probably the toughest Class C schedule in the state. The Seward win helps the most, though all four losses and another pair of victories have also been over Class B foes.

One of David City's Class C wins was over Madison, the other newcomer. Madison takes over the No. 10 position after losing that one-pointer to Laurel and then topping Norfolk Catholic, previously No. 6 in Class C, 69-61.

Pall Bearers For Bozon Members Of Ski Team

Chamonix, France, (AP) — Members of the French ski team were pall bearers Monday at the funeral of Michel Bozon who was fatally injured Friday when he lost control and ran off the course during the Emile Allais Cup downhill race in Megeve.

Among the big crowd attending the services was a delegation from the traveling American ski team that included Billy Kidd, of Stowe, Vt., Kiki Cutter of Bend, Ore., and Julie Wolcott, of Underhill Center, Vt.

Arnie Named As AP Golfer Of Decade

New York (AP) — The rallying cry "Charge!" was the mark of the 1960s and the man who stoked fire into the word, Arnold Palmer was the overwhelming choice Monday as Golfer of the Decade.

The muscled, long-hitting son of a onetime Latrobe, Pa., greenskeeper received 531½ of the 633 votes cast by sports writers and broadcasters in The Associated Press poll.

The muscled, long-hitting son of a onetime Latrobe, Pa., greenskeeper received 531½ of the 633 votes cast by sports writers and broadcasters in The Associated Press poll.

Jack Nicklaus, the goldenhaired bear from Columbus, Ohio, who beat Palmer in a playoff for the U.S. Open championship in 1962 and who crushed his rival in other head-to-head meetings, was a distance second with 75½ votes.

One of the electors chose Palmer and Nicklaus as No. 1 on a single ballot.

Bill Casper, the master from San Diego, Calif., and South Africa's Gary Player tied for third with eight each, followed by Orville Moody, four; Lee Trevino, three; Frank Beard, Sam Snead and Charlie Sifford, one each.

He began it by coming from seven strokes off the pace in the final round to win the 1960 U.S. Open at Denver and he ended the decade by rallying from six strokes back in the last round for a Dec. 8, 1969 victory in the Danny Thomas Classic at Miami.

It was his second consecutive triumph after a frustrating, year-long slump.

In between, big time golf roared skyward on a multi-million-dollar spiral and most of the credit was attributed the personal popularity of Palmer.

The Professional Golfers Association tour jumped from less than $2 million in 1960 to close to $7 million in 1969. More young athletes jumped into the game in search of quick fortunes. The best of them became instant millionaries.

"Every time I cash a pay check I thank golf for Arnold Palmer," said Beard, the in the final scene.

"Arnie's Army" became a leading money winner of 1969 with more than $170,000.

The $50,000 and $100,000 tournaments became passe, succeeded by $200,000 to $250,000 windfalls. Wall street money pushed the goal to $300,000 in 1970.

Palmer became a living legend. Television brought his dramatic, come - from - behind finishes into the living room and ladies began turning off soap operas to watch the well-built athlete with the wrinkling nose and flair for producing golf miracles.

Allen Paces UNO Past Doane, 86-77

Omaha (AP)—Arthur Allen was the hero for the University of Nebraska at Omaha Monday, as he put in a layup and free-throw late in the first half, giving UNO a 22-20 lead which the Indians stretched into a 86-77 win over Doane College.

NWU Cagers Try To Reverse Luck Against Iowans Tonight

By TOM HENDERSON
Star Sports Writer

Nebraska Wesleyan's basketball team has had little luck so far this season against Iowa teams, winning only once (a 90-86 decision over Midwestern of Denison, Iowa) in four outings.

Aside from that, the best thing to happen to NWU involving Iowa teams was Graceland's cancellation of two scheduled games against the Plainsmen.

Coach Irv Peterson's club had a 5-1 record going for it this season until running up against Morningside, Iowa which dropped Wesleyan, 80-64, last December.

Cornell and Coe, Iowa followed with 75-72 and 96-88 decisions in the Coe-Cornell tournament and the Plainsmen were threatened with another so-so season.

The Wesleyan cagers, now 8-6, will be trying to make up for some of their earlier losses against teams from their neighboring state to the east tonight when they meet Buena Vista College in Storm Lake, Iowa, in a 7:30 p.m. game.

The Plainsmen own a 7-2 series record of the Beavers and with the Iowans' season mark now only 3-13, it would appear Wesleyan will have little trouble adding to its advantage.

Nebraska Wesleyan took a 86-85 victory over the University of year in the only game between common opponents. Buena Vista lost, 96-93, to the Omahans less than two weeks ago.

Coach Merritt Ewalt's Beavers have three sophomores and a pair of seniors in the starting lineup with Arnold Johnson at 6-7 leading the club in both scoring and rebounding. Nebraska at Omaha earlier this Wesleyan will again go with Tom Brown and Rick Boals at guards, John Brown and Ernie Strasil at the forward spots and 6-10 Bob Beecham at center.

The Plainsmen had a three-game winning streak broken last Saturday night, losing, 90-77, to Doane, and will be battling to get back on the winning side of the scoreboard.

K-State Still Is Unbeaten In Big 8

Stillwater, Okla. (AP) — Eighteenth-ranked Kansas State kept its Big Eight Conference basketball record unblemished with a 71-60 triumph Monday night over Oklahoma State.

The Wildcats now own a 4-0 mark in league play and stand 13-3 for all games. Oklahoma State is 10-6 overall and 1-3 in the conference.

Strong rebounding and accurate field goal shooting spelled the difference for K-State. The visitors whipped Oklahoma State on the boards, 4-15, and hot 50 per cent from the field to shot 50 per cent from the field to Oklahoma State took a 22-18 lead midway in the first half, then the Wildcats reeled off nine straight points and never again trailed.

Caddie Innocent

San Diego (AP) — Billy Casper said Monday he doesn't blame his caddie for failing to show up in time with the clubs, bringing disqualification in the $150,000 Bing Crosby National Pro-AM Golf Tournament.

"It wasn't his fault," Casper said of Del Taylor, his caddie for eight years.

"He got bad information from the lodge. He called the telephone operator there and was told I had an 8 a.m. teeoff time."

Cyclones Stall Jayhawks

Ames, Iowa (AP) — Iowa State stalled out the last minute of an overtime period before sending Jim Abrahamson down the lane for a layup with five seconds left to collect a 91-89 Big Eight Conference basketball victory over Kansas here Monday night.

The score was tied 83-all at the end of regulation play. Iowa State has now won the last 10 games in which the Cyclones had to play an overtime period.

The win improved Iowa State's Big Eight mark to 2-3 and dropped Kansas to 1-2. The Cyclones are 9-8 for the season, while Kansas stands 10-5.

The Jayhawks' Dave Robisch collected 39 points before picking up his fifth personal foul with 1:07 left in regulation play.

His total was the most ever scored by a Cyclone opponent in the Armory, but fell one short of the arena individual record 40 of Gary Thompson of Iowa State against Vanderbilt in 1955.

Kansas also got 19 points from Pierre Russell and 14 from Fred Stallworth.

Bill Cain paced the Cyclones with 30 points. Aaron Jenkins hit 14, Dave Collins added 13 and Dave DeVilder and Abrahamson contributed 10 each in the victory.

Kansas led through much of the first half, but the Cyclones tied the score three times, including a 43-all intermission deadlock.

The Jayhawks led only three times in the second half but forced the overtime after Iowa State missed its chance to win in regulation play by blowing four free throws at the end of the second half.

Merged NFL Signs Valuable TV Pacts

New York (AP) — Pro football commissioner Pete Rozelle completed agreements with the television networks Monday for separate contracts that will bring an estimated $130 million to the 26 National Football League clubs in the next four years.

No financial figures were announced by Rozelle or officials of the Columbia Broadcasting System and the National Broadcasting Company in four-year deals that include the Super Bowl and the All Star game between the American and National Conferences of the merged 26-team league.

It had been announced in June that 14 Monday night games would be televised by the American Broadcasting Company. It was reliably reported that ABC paid $8.5 million a year for each of three years in that agreement.

Rozelle appeared at a news conference with CBS officials to report their agreement. The NBC pact was released in a press handout. Rozelle, named commissioner 10 years ago, managed to complete both of the major deals on the same day.

Rozelle said CBS and NBC were not paying the same figure for regular season games but were paying the same for the Super Bowl and All Star game. The 16-team NFL received $18.8 million a year from CBS in the contract that ran out with the 1969 season. NBC paid the AFL teams $38 million for five years in a contract that also expired with the 1969 season. The Super Bowl was priced at $2 million in 1967 when both CBS and NBC televised. In the next three years it brought $2.5 million with the networks alternating.

Under the new contract CBS will carry the games of the National Conference and NBC will carry the games of the American Conference, the AFL plus Cleveland, Baltimore and Pittsburgh. Each network will carry three preseason games, one Thanksgiving Day game, two Saturday afternoon games in December, the inter-division playoffs and the conference championship games as well as a full Sunday schedule for 14 weeks. CBS will present eight doubleheaders starting Oct. 4 in contrast with 11 last year. There will be a modified blackout with a game between two other clubs being presented in a city whose club is playing at home. Home games again will not be televised.

Regardless of the network costs, all of the television money will go to the NFL to be divided equally among the 26 clubs. In the past the 16 NFL teams split the CBS money. However, the expansion teams at Miami and Cincinnati did not receive any of the NBC money in the AFL.

The site of the 1971 Super Bowl has not been determined. It probably will be announced when the league holds its annual meeting in Honolulu in March. The first American-National All-Star game will be played after the Super Bowl and the AFL All-Star game and the Pro Bowl NFL All-Star will be eliminated. No site has been selected for the All-Star game.

Improvements Sought For Hwy. 32 In Stanton Co.

By The Associated Press

State Highway 32 between Nebraska 15 and 57 is "virtually a trail," the State Highway Commission was told Monday.

"In 41 years there has never been one state dollar spent" on the eight-mile stratch except for some graveling in 1965 on two miles to be used as a Nebraska 15 detour, said George Moyer of Madison.

"We have many sections of the state highway system that are in the same shape as yours," responded Commission Chairman Dan Ramsey of Scottsbluff.

Commissioner Merle Kingsbury of Ponca said the commission had outlined plans to improve the state highway system and eventually would get to the problem areas.

Situation Critical

Moyer said Stanton County officials were hard pressed to explain to local residents why the Roads Department spent money improving roadways rated as sufficient while the Nebraska 32 situation was critical on a local scale.

He proposed that improvement of the Stanton County segement be financed with the money that had been scheduled for improvement during 1970 of U.S. 77 south of Lincoln to Pickerell, which he said involved 13.2 miles of highway already rated as sufficient by the Roads Department.

Madison Mayor Morris Moyer said rural school districts were pressuring for improvement because the highway was impassable a vast majority of the time.

The commission took no action related to the comments.

Survey Presented

George Moyer also presented to the commission on behalf of the Highway 81 Association a survey indicating highway use comparisons between U.S. 81 and U.S. 77 for the years 1962 and 1968.

The survey indicated traffic on U.S. 81 increased an average of 243.5 vehicles per day during the six-year period, compared with an increase of 43.1 vehicles per day during the same period on U.S. 77.

Nebraskanas are "voting with their automobiles" where they want highway improvements made, Moyer said.

At the point of highest use on U.S. 77, at the State Penitentiary area in Lincoln, Moyer said, traffic increased an average of only 76 vehicles per day.

Access Road

In other action, the commission looked favorably upon a Cherry County proposal to construct a 15-mile, two-lane access road to Merritt Dam in what would be an improvement of Nebraska 97 north of Mullen.

A spokesman told the commission the highway, estimated to cost roughly $400,000 or more, could be built with 50% funding from the federal government and additional equal shares from Cherry County and allocations to the Game Commission.

The matter was one for the Game Commission, Ramsey said, and although the consensus of the commission was favorable, any direct action was "out of our spehere."

Ramsey Re-Elected

The commission re-elected Ramsey as chairman and elected Commissioner Thane Davis of Hyannis as vice chairman, succeeding Commissioner Robert E. O'Keefe of Omaha.

The commissioners agreed to change the regular commission meeting to the fourth Friday of each month at 10 a.m.

Other commission action:

The commission offered for hearing a proposed corridor location for the north Omaha expressway. Sought was approval to purchase right-of-way from Hamilton Street to Grand Avenue between 25th Street and 31st Street. The expressway would continue northward from the downtown interconnections with Interstate 480.

Also offered for hearing were corridor and design plans for a 3.3 mile stretch south of Weeping Water to U.S. 34 and about two miles of U.S. 136 west of Fairbury.

Offered for design hearing were plans for a continuation of improvement on Cornhusker Highway in Lincoln from 58th Street to the Burlington Railroad overpass beyond 70th Street.

The commission advanced plans for a modified design for Highway 20 in Valentine. The modifications were in line with complaints at the design hearing, the commission was told, and resurfacng the current highway, as favored by some witnesses, would be "perpetuating an obsolete roadway.

The commission advanced corridor and design plans for:

—Aligning corners and adding lighting at the intersection of 20th Street and Avenue B in Scottsbluff. Negative testimony at the hearing was based on factors that were insufficient to merit re-design, the commission was told.

—The segment of Interstate 80, about eight miles in length, between Sidney and Sunol.

—About five miles of U.S. 20 east of Gordon.

—About 16 miles of U.S. 30 connecting Sidney and Lodgepole.

—The intersection of 108th and L Streets in Omaha.

—About two miles of Nebraska 97 north of Tryon.

Hearing dates were to be set on plans for a connection in Bellevue between U.S. 73-75 and Nebraska 370 that would replace Nebraska 131 in the state highway system, and eight miles of Nebraska 14 extending north of Superior to U.S. 136.

Northwestern Seeks End To 8-Party Rural Phones

An application by Northwestern Bell Telephone Co. to eliminate eight-party rural service in Nebraska has been taken under advisement by the State Railway Commission.

Under the proposal, rural customers of the company would be given a choice of one-party, or two-party, or four-party service at higher monthly local service rates.

Approximately 17,000 rural customers would be affected.

The firm proposes to offer one-party and two-party service in a three mile wide band surrounding the central town. Outside this area, one-party, two-party and four-party service would be offered.

The company said customers of rural exchanges would be surveyed to determine if they want the new service. A two-thirds majority in favor would be required before the policy change would be adopted for an individual exchange.

Meyer: Courts Can Decide Parochial School Aid Lines

By The Associated Press

The State Justice Department says it does not intend to draw "the precise dividing line on just how much public aid can be given to parochial schools."

"The courts are available for this purpose and the constitution can be amended," Atty. Gen. Clarence A. H. Meyer has advised State Education Commissioner Cecil E. Stanley in a letter.

Stanley, who made public the Jan. 19 letter, said a number of proposals permitting parochial school children to become involved in federally funded programs without actually going to public school premises have been made by private school authorities. But the legalities remain "in flux," he said.

Nebraska's constitution prohibits expenditure of public funds on any educational activity not completely under public control. Parochial schools have had to deal directly with the federal government in obtaining financial aid for federally-aided programs, as a result.

Stanley had asked the attorney general to rule on a proposed lease agreement between Hartington public and Catholic schools.

The plan was for the public school to lease one full-time and one half-time classroom in the Catholic high school for $300 per year. Stanley said the idea was to teach remedial reading courses in the Catholic school to both Catholic and public school students, using federal funds.

Meyer said his office has been consulted about various approaches.

"It is now obvious the point of all these submissions is to have this office determine the precise dividing line," Meyer noted. That's what he has no intention of doing, he added.

Shot Fired Through Window Wounds Rural Lincoln Man

A rural Lincoln man, wounded in the hand Saturday evening when a bullet pierced the window of his home, was listed in satisfactory condition Monday at Lincoln General Hospital.

Injured was Robert T. Ross, 64, whose home is located approximately a quarter of a mile west of the State Penitentiary. His wife, Ardell, was struck on the wrist with a fragment of the bullet.

According to sheriff's reports, the couple were sitting in the living room at the tome of the shot was fired. The drapes were closed across the window.

Mrs. Ross told deputies the shot seemed to be near the house beccause the report was very loud.

Deputies found footprints about 50 feet from the house. The tracks indicated someone had pushed a bicycle into a ditch, walked some distance away and then returned for the bike.

The tracks crossed the projected path of the bullet twice, but deputies could find no spent cartridges.

The bullet apparently struck the window at an almost perpendicular angle, the report said.

A $200 reward for information leading to the arrest and conviction of the person responsible is being offered by Sheriff Merle Karnopp and the Lancaster County Mounted Sheriff's Posse.

Ross is a member of the posse, which is offering $100 of the reward. Karnopp has posted the other $100.

Robbery Charges Are Filed Against Two Milford Men

Two Milford men were charged Monday in Lancaster County Court with robbery in connection with a holdup at Charlie's Texaco at 3001 West O Friday night.

Judge Ralph Slocum set Feb. 11 for preliminary hearing for Larry Lee Stutzman, 27, and Eldon Ray Reed, 22, who were both specifically charged with taking by force property from Roger Kovanda, the station attendant.

According to the Lancaster County sheriff's office, approximately $100 was taken and a pay phone was found "ripped from the station" in the men's car.

The pair was arrested by the State Patrol in Milford.

Police Searching For Snowmobile

Police were investigating Monday the theft of a snowmobile from the backyard of a home at 62 West Lake Shore Drive.

The snowmobile, valued at $800, was on a trailer and the thieves apparently hitched a vehicle to the trailer and pulled it away.

The owner was listed as John C. Mason.

Stock Mart Sinks To 1969-70 Low

New York (AP) — The stock market, with the plug pulled on the hopes of many investors, sank to a new 1969-70 low Monday, as indicated by the Dow Jones industrial average.

The popular average of bluechip issues dipped 6.66 to 768.88, eclipsing the old 1969 mark of 769.93 posted last Dec. 17.

The Standard & Poor's 500-stock average lost .90 to 88.17, also a new 1969-1970 low.

The New York Stock Exchange average of 1,200 common issues closed at 49.38, off 0.55, a new 1970 low and a shade above the 1969 bottom of 49.31 on July 29.

Many investors took to the sidelines, as they have been doing in the past week, to wait out the decline, analysts commented.

"They are waiting to see what the dimensions of the decline are going to be," added Monte Gordon, research director for Bache & Co.

Also cited as market depressants were uncertainty over President Nixon's upcoming budget message, disappointment over the President's State of the Union address last Thursday, and the steady flow of lower corporate earnings reports.

Declines outdistanced advances by better than 3 to 1, as 1,000 issues lost ground, 306 moved ahead, and 243 were unchanged of 1,549 issues traded.

A total of 158 issues hit new yearly lows, while four stocks bucked the losing tide to hit new yearly highs. They were Briggs & Stratton Corp., Revlon preferred, TI Corp., and Valve Corp. of America.

Trading tempo eased, as 10.67 million shares changed hands, down from Friday's volume of 11.01 million shares.

Institutional trading also slacked, as 52 blocks of 10,000 shares or more moved, 19 less than on Friday. A 151,000-share block of Atlantic Richfield, off 2 to 77, was the largest.

The Associated Press 60-stock average lost 2.2 to 264.0, with industrials off 3.5, rails behind 1.4, and utilities losing .3.

Closing on the decline were steels, motors, farm implements, utilities, metals, chemicals, oils airlines, tobaccos, and drugs, while most aircrafts pushed ahead, and rubber issues, electronics, rails, and building materials finished mixed.

Sixteen of the Big Board's 20 most-active issues lost, 3 gained, and 1 was unchanged. Pacing the active issues was Becton Dickinson, off 8¼ to 51¼, on a turnover of 258,700 shares including the second largest block of the session — 150,000 shares.

Prices fell sharply on the American Stock Exchange, with the index losing 25 cents to $26.06 and declining stocks outpacing advances by the wide margin of 707 to 180.

Volume tapered to 3.66 million shares compared with Friday's turnover of 4.09 million shares.

Seven blocks of 10,000 shares or more moved, 7 fewer than on Friday.

Nortek Inc., off ⅛ to 28, topped the active list on a volume of 97,600 shares.

Livestock Prices Dip At Omaha

Omaha (AP) — A slump in dressed beef prices over the weekend more than offset moderate to light cattle markets in the midlands Monday and prices headed downward.

Trading at Omaah was only fairly active at best, and that only in the heifer division, as prices on fed steers and heifers turned unevenly weak to 50 cents lower than last midweek. Bulk sales on choice cattle were fully 25 cents lower.

Pressure continued against heifer cattle, slowing trade in the steer division considerably. In addition, May cattle were carrying substantial coats of mud, attesting to thawing conditions in area feedlots.

A moderate outlay of choice to prime 1,075-1,200 lb. fed steers here Monday.

Best heifers here 28.25-28.50 for 950-1,000 lb. weights, choice down to 26.50.

Good to choice fleshy 900-1,025 lb. feeder steers went out at 27.50-28.25.

Price trend was mixed in the hog market. Butchers under 240 lbs. sold steady to 25 cents lower, heavier weights steady to instances 25 cents higher. Sows ruled weak to 25 cents lower.

Most 190-240 lb. butchers cleared 28.25-29.00. Sows grouped 23.75-24.75.

Fat lambs turned 25-50 higher. Toppy No. 1 to fall pelts 29.75-30.25. Best woolies 30.00.

Law Center Site Choice Not Political—Governor

By DON WALTON
Star Staff Writer

Omaha — Gov. Norbert Tiemann Monday night brushed aside allegations that his choice of Grand Island as the site for the new law enforcement training center was dictated by political motives.

"There were no politics involved," Tiemann told a town hall meeting in north Omaha.

"If I were to play politics, obviously I would have chosen the most populous site."

Among the proposed locations was the old North Omaha Radar Station.

Tiemann said the Grand Island site was recommended by an advisory committee established to propose a location to the governor and to State Patrol Col. James Kruger.

Sen. Terry Carpenter has charged Tiemann with playing politics with the decision.

As a cosponsor of legislation proposing establishment of the center, Carpenter could have named Omaha as the site in the law itself, Tiemann noted.

"Again, his hindsight is 20-20," the governor declared.

Monday's town hall session, held at Omaha's North High School, was attended by about 150 persons.

State Institutions Director Don Duncan told the audience that "we're making progress" in improving the state's program for the mentally retarded.

"Great strides have been made" in reducing the population at the Beatrice State Home and in improving its staffing services since 1967, Duncan said.

Population at the institution — which is "grossly overcrowded" — has been reduced from nearly 2,300 to 1,800, Duncan said.

The long-range goal is to reduce patient population to about 800 and upgrade services in the institution for those who remain, he noted.

Meanwhile, he said, more treatment and care facilities would be provided for the mentally retarded in their local communities.

Up To Legislature

Tiemann told a questioner that it will be "up to the Legislature" whether state tax rates are to be raised in the near future.

Legislative appropriations determine state tax levels, he noted.

Tiemann said that state revenue currently helps fund a number of new state aid programs which hold local tax levels down.

Without those programs, he pointed out, "your real estate taxes would be a lot higher."

Tiemann fielded critical questions on his campaign fund sources and the fund-raising dinner which will be held in his behalf in Lincoln next month.

That dinner, he said, is "entirely proper" despite "some flak from a segment of individuals who are seeking publicity."

As for campaign contributors, Tiemann said, a list of them is on public file with the secretary of state.

And, he said, he noticed not long ago that the list of his past campaign receipts on file at the Statehouse has become rather "dog-eared."

Disturbance At City Jail Quelled With Fire Hoses

A Saturday night disturbance at city jail, quelled by police using fire hoses, began when six prisoners threw soup on a trusty inmate and refused to enter their cells after the melee, Inspector Eugene Henninger said Monday.

Henninger said the trusty prisoner was serving the soup to approximately 14 other prisoners in the day-room portion of their cellblock when several prisoners complained about the food and threw soup at the trusty.

When jailors came to investigate the disturbance, six of the prisoners refused to enter cells.

Henninger said jailors turned the hose on the six and that other policemen carried the soaked prisoners to other cells.

Mutual Savings Reports 'Good, Profitable Year'

Mutual Savings Co. reported a "good, profitable year in 1969" at its annual stockholders meeting Monday.

Officers re-elected include Easley; Dave Widders, George E. Easley and Mrs. Katherine L. Easley, vice presidents, and Mrs. Marjorie B. Bauers, secretary.

All the officers were also re-elected to the board of directors.

Charge Account System Changes For Car Repairs

The Lincoln New Car Dealers Assn. has announced that most of its member dealers are adopting a new policy which will require that most customers who do not wish to pay cash for repairs and parts charge such purchases on credit cards.

Most dealers will thus be able to eliminate most 30-day charge accounts, a spokesman said. Most of the dealers will be accepting credit cards such as those issued by banks, he said.

Berger Named Executive Director Of Bar

Burton E. Berger, 6221 Hartley, was officially appointed the new executive director of the State Bar Association, Monday evening.

William Baird of Omaha, president of the State Bar Association, made the announcement at a meeting of the Lincoln Bar Association.

He said Berger's responsibility would be to local and regional groups, and to keep lawyers abreast of events of state bar associations.

Berger has been program coordinator at the Nebraska Center.

Baird said the reorganization committee, which was organized in late 1966, would begin a reorganization of the internal structure of the state bar association.

This would consist of four major changes, including:

—placing of the House of Delegates in full charge of the association,

—employment of an excutive director,

—creation of a budget and audit committee,

—emplementing a new method of election of memberships.

The rules in regard to these changes will be submitted in the form of bylaws next June, 1970, at the mid-year meeting of the House of Delegates. The rules will then have to be approved by the courts.

During an afternoon session the attorneys listened to a 75-minute tape recording on the tax reform act of 1969.

The tape was narrated by Sidney Kess, author of several tax law books and said to be the leading authority in practical tax training.

Kess' tape covered individual tax changes enacted by the 1969 law, the most massive revision of internal revenue laws in the nation's history.

"Arthritis Pain Formula Relieves Pain Which My Other Medicine Did Not."

50% stronger than a regular aspirin.
Helps you wake up without all that morning stiffness, yet gentle even to an empty stomach.

Scores of arthritis sufferers are sending in dramatic reports of the help they're getting from a formula recently introduced to give hours of relief from minor arthritis pain and its stiffness. The formula is (1) so strong you can take it less often and still wake up in the morning without all the pain's stiffness and (2) is so gentle you can take it on an empty stomach. You get extra medication because each tablet contains 50% more pain reliever than regular or buffered aspirin tablets—and extra protection because each tablet contains two antacids. T.V. TARGET

By LES RYMAN

In the modern home, television, like food, is provided to a child as a matter of course. It is not a reward for good behavior, nor is it withheld arbitrarily for misbehavior. It should not be used as a threat over a child's head to exert pressure for achievement and obedience. Like a dessert, television should be allowed only after the main course. In a home where scholarship is valued, homework must come first if there is to be TV later. The child is neither nagged nor prodded. He is offered a choice: One, homework right after school or two, homework after dinner before TV. This approach usually works quite well and most children appreciate this firmness.

Wilson Urges New Version Of U.S.-British Relationship

New York (AP) — British Prime Minister Harold Wilson called on his country and the United States Monday to replace their World War II "special relationship" with a new version geared for a joint fight against the exploding social problems of the 1970s.

The British leader said that during two days of talks with President Nixon, starting Tuesday morning in Washington, "it is not the organization of power blocs we shall be discussing. It is the organization of social power to mobilize social resources to overcome social evils."

Wilson said the British people offer Americans "a special relationship arising out of a joint determination to help each other, and to join with others, in tackling the pressing urban and social problems we have in common with other advanced industrial countries.

"Problems deriving from the urban explosion of an expanding affluent society, the planning of our environment, the problem of housing our people, urban transport, the problems of pollution of the air we breathe, the waters in our lands and round our shores. The problems of law and order.

"The inherited problems of poverty and blight in urban housing, urban decay, slum schools.

"The problems of individual poverty — the underprivileged of all ages, the long-term sick, the disabled, the mentally handicapped."

Wilson gave no details on how Britain and the United States could work together on these problems, but he said: "The special relationship of the '70s must mean sharing that experience, sharing that thinking, so that both of us can benefit. Not governments only, not Parliament and Congress only, but our social administrators and social workers, our managements, our trade unionists, our students, our children."

He said he and President Nixon "made a start" during Nixon's London visit last February and that this has been followed by two-way exchanges of ministers and officials.

Dr. Wallace Peterson Meets With Nebraskans For Peace

Outstate Nebraska Bureau

Central City — University of Nebraska economics professor Dr. Wallace Peterson, a probable candidate for U.S. senator on the Democratic ticket, met Tuesday night at the T. C. Reeves home west of here with members of the Nebraskans for Peace organization to discuss views on government policies.

Peterson, who has expected to announce his candidacy for the Senate, told the group of about 20 interested area residents that he is concerned for the young people and wants to contribute something to solving many of the problems facing Nebraskans today.

Peterson, who was expected to Nebraska and other states need people in Congress who will question military spending.

"The military has had a blank check on its funding until now, and it's time we started questioning it," he said.

Peterson estimated a campaign would cost $100,000. The money, he said, would come from "the little people and organizations that want a change."

Livestock Auction
Sale Every Wednesday
We sell hay at 11:30am — Hog Sale starts at 11:45am with Sheep, Calves and Cattle immediately following.
We had a big run of livestock last Wednesday and all classes sold exceedingly well with butcher hogs at $28.50, sows at $23.75, feeder pigs at $18.00 to $25.00 per head and market boars at $19.50 to $20.90 per cwt.
Baby calves from $25.00 to $50.00 with the heavier type beef calves from $85.00 to $120.00. The 250 lb. to 400 lb. calves ranged freely from 33.50 to $40.00 and the 400 lb. to 650 lb. steers and heifers at $30.00 to $36.00 with extreme at $37.10. The heavier weights, 650 lb. and up, at $26.50 to $31.25 and Holsteins (all weights) at $26.50 to $29.00. Slaughter cows (all grades) mostly at $18.50 to $21.50 and stock cows at $200.000 to $237.50. Cows with calves at side at $240.00 to $265.00 per family and butcher bulls at $25.00 to $26.50. Most of the hay sold from 50c to 75c per bale with some choice prairie hay at 80c and straw at 42c.
Advance listings indicate another big sale Wednesday, January 28th. We have a lot of good light weight feeders, several consignments of stock cows and our usual run of baby calves, slaughter cows, hogs of all classes and approximately 800 bales of alfalfa, brome and prairie hay. JUST CONSIGNED, 25 more Hereford steers and heifers 500 to 600 lb., 11 Holstein steers, 24 Black Angus steer and bull calves, 20 bred stock cows, plus many more by sale day.

THE POSSIBLE DREAM
Country Club Village remembers the forgotten couple. The family in their 20's that isn't ready to pay a King's ransom to move into a home but still feels they deserve the advantage of the comfortable life. Country Club Village is devoted to this couple. With attractive one and two-bedroom garden apartments (some with two baths) that feature Wall-to-wall carpeting and draperies. Color-coordinated General Electric appliances including a zero-degree freezer and frost-free refrigerator, deluxe range with self-timing ovens, waste disposal and dishwasher. Plenty of storage IN THE APARTMENT! Individually controlled heating and air conditioning. WE PAY YOUR HEATING BILL!! Cable TV is furnished A clubhouse with fireplace, bar and adjacent heated swimming pool — yours to use AT NO CHARGE!
The clubhouse and model apartment were distinctively decorated and furnished by CARRIAGE HOUSE FURNITURE of Omaha.
This wonderful world of living was made possible by the wonderful world of banking at the National Bank of Commerce. Live the possible dream at

DAILY CRYPTOQUOTE

Here's How To Work It

One letter simply stands for another in this example, A is used for the three L's X for the two O's etc. Single letters, apostrophies, the length and formation of the words are all hints. Each day the code letters are different.

A X Y D L B A A X R
to L O N G F E L L O W

Here is a practical little game that will give you a message every day. It is a numerical puzzle designed to spell out your fortune. Count the letters in your first name. If the number of letters is 6 or more, subtract 4. If the number is less than 6, add three. The result is your key number. Start at the upper left-hand corner of the rectangle and check every one of your key numbers left to right. Then read the message the letters under the checked figures gives you.
